No Tax Lists Lost, Delaney Declares

Internal Revenue Collector Denis W. Delaney declared today so-called "missing" income tax return in his office all were accounted for and that their removal occurred in 1943, a year before he was appointed to the office. Congressional subcommittee investigators had reported "thousands" of returns were missing from the Boston office, along with charging laxity and mishandling of March of Dimes funds in a report that has been turned over to Atty.-Gen. Tom C. Clark.

Delaney said the so-called "missing" returns had been shipped to Washington under orders of the national office at the time the withholding tax was inaugurated in 1943. All such returns were noted with code numbers in the Boston office files, he added.

An employe later assigned to retabulate the files had been unable to understand the code numbers, Delaney said. As a result he forwarded an inter-office memo to Deputy Collector John E. Burns that the large number of returns were "missing."

INVESTIGATORS GOT MEMO

Although the employe's misunderstanding had long since been corrected and all returns tabulated or accounted for, Delaney said, the memo fell into the hands of the investigators, who assumed the returns still were missing.

Delaney said he knew nothing whatsoever about charges a truck containing the files had broken down in New Jersey and had been tampered with. He again pointed out that this all had occurred in 1943, the year before he took over the collector'se office.

Delaney summoned Earl P. Smith, supervisor of accounts and collections, who said that on two occasions since Delaney became collector supervising agents made examinations and found the office accounts in balance.

Smith added that all the returns involved in the so-called "missing" category had been paid long before the incident occurred and that there was no loss to the government involved.

ANSWERS REP. CANFIELD

Regarding a charge by Rep. Canfield of New Jersey, member of the subcommittee, that an expenditure was made from infantile paralysis funds for dinners and gratuities, highballs and champagne cocktails, Delaney said:

"It is customary in any campaign to provide dinners for workers, who as you know, are unpaid. I was not present on this occasion but I know there were seven persons there and that the check amounted to $36, which is not an unreasonable amount. The persons present were members of the medical committee of the Suffolk County Chapter of the Infantile Paralysis Fund.

"They included Dr. Andrew Contratto, of Harvard Medical School; Charles Kurtzman, William Pote, George Schwartz, Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward D. Hassan; Daniel O'Brien and John E. Burns. They were in a business session from 6 p. m. to midnight and their dinner was included."

Delaney said he understood a detailed report was being forwarded by him by air mail today and that he would have a more complete statement to make after reading the report.

Among the first to hasten to the defense of Collector Delaney was Joseph F. Nee, state representa-

Pauley Quiz First In 'Shock' Expose

By FRANK B. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (INS)—The Senate Appropriations Committee announced today its inquiry into grain transactions of Edwin W. Pauley would be extended to include other public figures, the names of some of whom would "shock the nation."

This came after Pauley admitted that 50,000 bushels of wheat were purchased in his name as a bonus for his employes after he became special assistant to Army Sec. Royall last September.

Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan disclosed the committee was seeking names of heavy speculators from a government board which includes Agriculture Sec. Anderson, Commerce Sec. Harriman and Atty. Gen. Clark.

FERGUSON'S REPLY

Ferguson said the board's director, J. M. Mehl, had informed the committee it would be illegal to turn over the names of speculators.

The Senator declared:

"We can get those names by calling in every broker in the country."

Disclosure that the committee has laid the groundwork for a sweeping probe of grain speculation came when Pauley asked whether the group had singled him out. Committee Chairman Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire, said:

"We certainly are going through with top people the same as we are with you."

Ferguson said the list the committee seeks from the Anderson-Harriman-Clark board enumerates all grain holdings of more than 200,000 bushels.

ACTUALLY MADE PROFIT

Pauley asserted the wheat bought as a bonus is the only commodity he still holds in a long position out of investments which he said cost him $100,000 to liquidate since taking office.

The $1000,000 was not an actual loss, Pauley explained that he actually made a small profit in disposing of the grain holdings but could have made $100,000 more had he retained them.

He said that President Truman, who is his close friend, had no information about his commodity

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee agreed today to authorize a $150,000,000 advance by the Reconstruction Finance Corp. to begin stopgap relief operations in France, Italy and Austria as soon as Congress finally approves foreign aid legislation.

The Senate voted to authorize up to $597,000,000 aid for the three countries, but the House pared the over-all total to $590,000,000 and earmarked $60,000,000 of that for China.

Truman Speaks Of Re-Election

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—President Truman was quoted for the first time today as speaking of re-election possibilities.

Dr. J. J. Vallarino, the retiring ambassador from Panma, told White House reporters after bidding goodby to Mr. Truman that the President had told him he might visit Panama "if I am re-elected."

Vallarino, emphasizing that he and Mr. Truman had spoken in a jocular vein, related the following exchange:

"I told him that I am going down to Panama to run for President and that if I am elected I wanted himto come down and visit me."

To which he said Mr. Truman replied:

"If I am re-elected, maybe I will. It will be fine for our future relations."

21 Dead Bring Total to 194 In Palestine

JERUSALEM, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Jewish underground struck hard with bomb and gun today at Arabs in five parts of Palestine and when dusk descended on this Moselm Sabbath 21 persons had been killed for a total of 194 since partition was announced.

At least 18 of the dead were Arabs whom Irgun Zvai Leumi said it had struck down in "retaliatory" blows at Tireh, Gaza, Haifa, Yazur and Shafar. Three bodies were found burned in a British overseas airways truck seized by Arabs tonight at Lydda village. At least 40 Arabs were wounded.

Irgun said actually the casualties were much higher and asserted in a pamphlet:

"We warned the Arabs repeatedly before we struck. Retaliatory acts will continue. If the British continue to interfere and permit the Arabs to import arms from abroad, we will strike them, too."

Throughout the Middle East, where Arabs were astir over the partition scheduled for next year, 310 persons had been killed.

Muriel Routs 8th Witness in Custody Fight

By CHARLES FINSTON
Special to the Boston Evening American

GREENFIELD, Dec. 12 — Fowler McCormick's deposition campaign to prove his sister, Mrs. Muriel McCormick Hubbard, is maternally unfit to care for her two adopted orphans was collapsing today.

Muriel virtually knocked out the No. 8 witness in the industrialist's certified list of 52 witnesses lined up against her in five states.

The latest witness to fall is Mrs. Grace Bement, former head of the Bement School in Deerfield, three miles from here, where the two orphans, Edie, 14, and Deedie, 10, attended classes before they were "farmed out" to an elderly, middle class Evanston, Ill., family. Mrs. Bement admitted under severe cross examination by Muriel's chief lawyer, Leslie H. Vogel, and her ace investigator, W. C. Dannenberg, that "under teen age" youngsters attending the school had to serve cocktails to tired instructors after school hours.

Mrs. Bement, 70, who recently sold her interest in the private school, conceded that the cocktail hour was suspended after community criticism was heard.

The school curriculum, Mrs. Bement testified in a star chamber session, is of the "progressive type," where youngsters are permitted to carry on as their emotions and impulses dictate.

Mrs. Bement admitted she was the link in "engineering" transfer of the two orphans from the school, by Fowler, to the Evanston family, after the chairman of the International Harvester Co. board won guardian control over the waifs in June, 1946.

The couple, who are now taking care of the orphans as boarders are Charles and Louise Hardin.

Interrogation of Mrs. Bement by Vogel developed the pathetic story of two unwanted orphans being shunted halfway across the country five times, to undergo "inspection" by the Hardins before they agreed to take the wealthy waifs off Fowler's hands.

Muriel was in the WAC all this time, having named the waifs as sole heirs to her $35,000,000 share of the Rockefeller and McCormick oil-harvester fortune.

Mrs. Bement told how she communicated with the Hardin couple after they got a telephone tip-off

Three Bandits Snatch $4200 From South Boston Cafe Owner

Three men, at least two of them carrying guns, today trapped Thomas D. Hagiavran, 59, as he was returning from a South End bank to his restaurant in Dorchester ave., South Boston, and robbed him of $4200. Hagiavran, who withdraws money from the bank each Friday to cash checks of New Haven railroad workers, had obtained the money and was driving across the Dover st. bridge to Dorchester ave. when another car suddenly cut in front of him, he told police.

SMASH CAR WINDOW

Riding with the cafe owner was a railroad employe, William F. Courtney, 46, of Pearl ct., Newton.

As Hagiavrian brought his car to a halt, three men leaped from the other machine and rushed toward him.

One smashed the door window with a gun, then placed the weapon against his neck, ordering him to remain silent.

A second man, meanwhile, had approached the opposite side, yanked open the door and ordered Courtney out of the car. As the latter obeyed, the man reached into the glove compartment and grabbed the two bundles of money.

After seizing the money the three men leaped into their own car and sped along Dover st. toward the South End.

HOLDUP CAR STOLEN

Their expensive make sedan, which had been reported stolen earlier, later was found abandoned at Harrison ave. and East Concord st., South End.

Hagiavrian furnished police with descriptions of the three man. All, he said, appeared to be in the late 30's or early 40's and about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches tall. At least two that he saw carried revolvers.

One of the men had dark glasses, was slight in build and was wearing a brown suit and topcoat and light brown hat.

Another was stocky in build with dark complexion and was dressed in a gray hat and dark overcoat. The third, also stocky, had fair complexion and was wearing a dark blue hat and dark overcoat.

Welsh Girl Flying to U. S. To Be Adopted by Mother

Just in case her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Parker Moynihan of Speen st., Natick, fails to recognize the daughter she hasn't seen for over three years, blue-eyed, golden-haired Valerie Parker, 9, of Cardiff, Wales, will be clutching a tattered sailor doll when she arrives at LaGuardia Field, New York, aboard a Pan-American overseas plane Sunday.

Valerie, you see, is coming to America on a jouyous but nonetheless strange mission. The little girl is going to be adopted by her own mother.

Little Valerie's transAtlantic hop climaxes a wartime romance between her mother, a divorcee, and Jerome D. Moynihan, a former merchant mariner. For 18 months Moynihan and Valerie's mother have been striving to clear up the complications which prevented the girl from joining them. Legal adoption proved to be the answer to their problem.

Mrs. Moynihan, a soft-spoken and winsome blonde, from whom Valerie gets her sparkling blue eyes and golden curls, was a nurses' aide in Sully Hospital in Barry, Wales, in 1943. Moynihan, 36, a Merchant Marine quartermaster, arrived at the hospital seriously injured in a heavy seas accident aboard his ship. Their meeting blossomed into romance and marriage.

When the war ended, Mrs. Moynihan joined her husband in the United States. They moved from Newark to Natick, where Moynihan works at the Wildwood Country Club and wheer they have an attractive modern cottage. And there's a room filled with dolls, teddy bears and child's furniture in the home now, all set for Valerie's arrival.

When Valerie's mother left Wales, her daughter was adopted by a childless couple, relatives of Mrs. Moynihan's first husband. Later, Valerie went to live with her maternal grandmother, and when her grandmother became ill, her mother and Moynihan started negotiations to get the little girl permission to join them.

Miss Ruth Wheeler, Natick agent of Child Welfare Society got in touch with Insp. J. R. Panniers of the Wales National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The fact that Mrs. Moynihan retained her British citizenship despite her marriage to an American caused complications and it wasn't until this week that arrangements were completed for Valerie's trip.

An the little tattered sailor doll that Valerie will be carrying is the little girl's own idea. She wants to make sure she doesn't miss her mother at the airport. The Moynihans left for New York today to be on hand when she arrives.

Solar Blast Sends Gas Up Million Miles

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)— A record-breaking solar "explosion" which drove flaming gaseous material more than a million miles above the sun's surface was reported today by the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The titanic solar "prominence," which makes the mushrooming cloud from an atom bomb a mere puff by comparison, was photographed at Carnegie's Mt. Wilson observatory more than a year ago.

Measurements which established its altitude at 1,064,185 miles were completed only recently, the Institution's annual report said.

Other news on the sun's activity included a finding that sunspot disturbances in May, 1947, were the most violent for any month since May, 1778, when our continental forefathers were just getting a new nation under way.

Sun spots are cyclonic storms on the sun, rather than explosions.

Last of Labrador Big Plane Crash Survivors Rescued

All six survivors of the Labrador wa stelands crash f a giant ATC transport Tuesday night have been moved from the accident scene the Goose Bay airfield by helicopter, Army officials reported today in a radio messge to Westover Field.

The message said that 17 of the 23 men who were killed in the crash were stationed at Ft. Pepperell, Newfoundland. Many were taking the plane trip to spend Christmas with their families in the United States. None of the six survivors was seriously injured, the report added.

First report from a survivor, a lieutenant colonel who was thrown clear in the crash, blamed the accident on "power failure." Names of 10 of the dead and the six survivors now have been released.

The first three brought out by plane to Goose Bay base, Labrador, were Lt. Col. Harry Bullis of Portland, Mich.; Cpl. John Shaner of Harrisburg, Pa., and Lt. J. M. Bickley of Santa Monica, Cal. All were reported in "fair condition" and "not critically injured."

The three rescued today after clearing skies eased the rescue work of the holicopter and dog sled crews at the scene were Sgt. William J. Bujack, only crew member to survive; Sgt. Joseph P. Stefanowicz of Warren, O., and Cpl. G. L. Harder of Ft. Wayne, Ond. After medical atention at the airfield, the six rescuee will be flown to Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., for examination and treatment.

"Undoubtedly the crash was caused by power failure," Lt.-Col. Bullis said. "I was lying in a bunk in the front of the plane when it took off from Goose Bay. Just a few minutes after the takeoff there was a terrible vibration which shook the whole ship.

"Right after that, the plane seemed to come to almost a dead stop in midair. Then next thing I knew I was lying in the snow after being thrown clear of the wreck."

Army officials said all 29 on board were thrown clear when the big transport struck snow-covered rocky tundra at a speed of about 100 miles an hour.

The Army declined to announce the names of 13 of the dead pending notification of next of kin, but did reveal the identity of the remaining 10 victims. Wives of all 10 are at Ft. Pepperell, Nfld., and have been told of the deaths.

The named victims are Lt. Col. Albert D. Phillips, Capt. Merle D. Parkinson, Capt. Carl W. Schlerche, Lt. William V. Laws, Lt. William Pilcher, Maj. Henry Ackerman, Capt. John C. Turney, M-Sgt. George J. Williams, M-Sgt. Stafford C. Rastall, and Sgt. John T. Morris.

A second helicopter today was bound from Westover Field to Goose Bay base to aid in speedy evacuation of the victims.

Curley, Aides In Huddle, Hynes Absent

Mayor Curley, members of the City Council and about 30 heads of municipal departments met for 2° hours today in the Mayor's office to discuss ways and means of raising money and finally decided that state aid was the key to their problem.

One absentee, noted by all present, was City Clerk John B. Hynes. He was represented by assistnt City Clerk Walter J. Molloy.

The question of purchasing parking meters took up a good deal of discussion period. Leo D. Curley, chairman of the Boston Traffic Commission, told the group the city will not accept the parking meter recommended by M. I. T. engineeer. It is too expensive, he explained.

Other amtters discussed included: A $25 tax on pinball machines until the Legislature passes a bill barring them; an increase in lodging house fees from $2 to $10 annually; and consideration of raising pawn brokers' fees from $100 to $500 annually.

Richard Heyward, 14, with his mother, Mrs. S. W. Congress Given Plans for Price Curb, Rollbacks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—Specific proposals for price ceilings and rollbacks under President Truman's request for standby anti-inflation powers were submitted to Congress today by Labor Sec. Schwellenbach.

Replying to Republican demands that the Administration spell out its anti-inflation program, Schwellenbach said price controls would be limited to commodities:

1—That basically affect the cost of living and which are essential items.

2—That are basic to the costs of agricultural and industrial production.

3—Essential to effectuation of the foreign policy of the United States.

Moreover, Schwellenbach said, a maximum price should be set only when.

1—The commodity is found to be in short supply; 2, or the price of such commodity has risen unreasonably above the price prevailing in June, 1947.

Maximum prices lower than the highest price prevailing between June 11 and June 18, 1947, may be established under Schwellenbach's proposals to make allowances for decreased costs or market declines.

Schwellenbach sent the price control provisions to Chairman Wolcott (R.) of Michigan of the House banking committee, with a note saying he would submit in a day or two specific language for such wage controls regarded as necessary to accompany price ceilings.

Schwellenbach described his outline as his personal recommendations. At the White House later after a cabinet meeting, he said wage and price controls "are tied together" and it will be "extremely difficult to do anything on wages unless action is taken on the control of prices."

To the inance Commission assertion it would cost the city $80,000 yearly to transport refuse from Brighton to the Mile rd. dump, Curley invited their cooperation in finding dump land or an incinerator site in Brighton.

2000 African Frogs Arrive All Hopped Up for Hospital

Jay Cook, 50, is a man who gambles on frogs, and today his jumps of glee easily eclipsed those of his proteges from Africa who arrived hopping-fit to the tune of 2000 aboard the freighter African Crescent at East Boston.

Dead frogs are a dead loss to this opportunist from Baltimore, but his springy consignment filled him with joy as he lovingly supervised its journey south today aboard special express trucks.

Gourmets need not lick their chops in anticipation of an added supply of the French delicacy, because Cook's croakers, culled from torpid west coast Africa, are destined for the advancement of science.

A rare variety, nurtured on a diet of ground meat, they are bound for John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and laboratories throughout the world, where their eggs and sperm will be employed by physicians to establish positive pregnancy and fertility tests.

Every live frog means $6 to $10 in the pocket of Cook, and this they are known to science.

consignment will net him an estimated $12,000 to $20,000.

Unusual types of business have unusual hazards, however, and his last shipment of 500 brought no return, all having died in transit.

Cook said he had shipped successfully more than 12,000 frogs this year, and has contracted for a further 20,000 in 1948.

A magazine article, recounting the usefulness of African clawed frogs, first lured him in 1945 from his trade as a seagoing machinist to that of a wholesaler in frogs.

An extensive tour of West Africa to locate breeding grounds followed. Then, establishing tentative customers in America, he began his lucrative but unusual trade in the Xenopus Laevis, as

Dog Allergic to Woman's Fur Barks Way Into Court

Is a dog that barks only at one woman—and at that woman only when she wears a silver fox fur neckpiece—a barking dog? This was the question posed at a preliminary hearing in West Roxbury court today before Judge Bert E. Holland.

Because every dog has his day, Judge Holland decided to give one in court to Glen, 5-year-old pet Scotch collie of William Ginsberg, owner of a Hyde Park ave., Jamaica Plain, cleansing shop.

The judge allowed issuance of a complaint against Ginsberg on the charge of keeping a barking dog and set Dec. 30 for the hearing.

Complainant in the case was Mrs. Helen A. Cataldo of Eldridge rd., Jamaica Plain, who claimed the dog has barked at her innumerable times; sprung at her at least twice, and once chased her across the street to a neighbor's front porch.

Ginsberg, acting as his own and Glen's attorney, got Mrs. Cataldo to admit in cross-examination that the dog barked at her only when she was wearing her furs. He drew the same admission from three of Mrs. Cataldo's witnesses and from three he presented himself.

Mrs. Cataldo, who said she was terrified by the dog, was unable to identify Glen's photograph in court. Although she has seen Glen almost daily for more than a year, she said she was so frightened by the dog she "couldn't look at him." She testified:

"I once told Mr. Ginsberg that if he didn't do something about the dog, I would hit the dog. And he told me if I hit the dog he would hit me."

Glen did not attend today's hearing. He remained outside in his master's care where he majestically posed for pictures and was interviewed by reporters, none of them fur-bearing.

And while Ginsberg was defending his dog in court, his three children, Myrna and Vera, 10-year-old twins, and Roberta, 13, were tearfully awaiting the outcome of the case at the home of their grandma in Harwood st., Dorchester, where they have been living since Ginsberg was ejected from the apartment he had occupied for 13 years.

Ginsberg, who served two and one-half years in the Army, said before starting for the courthouse that he purchased Glen two years ago while he was stationed at San Diego, Cal., for $195, and on his discharge brought the dog to his home in Dorchester.

CHILDREN PAT DOG

Unable to keep the dog at his mother's home for lack of room, Ginsberg took Glen to the cleansing shop in Hyde Park ave., which he opened two years ago with a GI loan, one of the first to be granted by the government.

Ginsberg maintains that for seven months Glen has been the pet of his customers and more than 600 pupils of the nearby Seaver School in Eldridge rd. The children pat the dog on the head as he sits in front of the shop when they pass to and from school, Ginsberg said.

MRS. MARGARET COLECCHIA
Denies She Knew Coats Stolen

Rearrest Everett Mother in Thefts

A charge of receiving stolen property—three fur coats valued at $800—against Mrs. Margaret A. Colecchia, 29, of Everett, was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction in municipal court today, but she was picked up immediately by Everett police on a similar warrant.

Boston detectives took the mother of three into court here after discovering the coats in her home. But Judge Jennie Loitman Barron declined jurisdiction.

Immediately arrested by Everett officers, Mrs. Colecchia denied knowledge the coats were stolen, saying they were sold to her by a man she could not identify.

Baby Fire Victim's Funeral Held

Last rites for Maureen Sullivan, 2, daughter of State Representative and Mrs. Jeremiah J. Sullivan, 2203 Massachusetts ave., North Cambridge, fatally burned Wednesday in a fire at her home, were held this afternoon at St. John's Church, with Msgr. Hugh F. Blunt, pastor, officiating.

Following the services, prayers were offered at the grave at Cambridge Cemetery.

Mrs. Frances Sullivan, 38, wife of the Representative, who received first and second degree burns on her body in the same fire, remained in critical condition at Mt. Auburn Hospital, with her name on the danger list, still unaware of her daughter's death.

Philip Now Included In British Royal Toast

The Home Office said the King approved the amending the toast so it now reads "The King, the Queen, Queen Mary, the Princess Elizabeth, the Duke of Edinburgh and other members of the royal family."

Police Officer Stabbed as Riot Rages at South End Restaurant

Amid the screams of women patrons, fists flew, knives flashed and chairs sailed through the air during a brawl in a South End restaurant early today that was finally quelled by police reserves. Some 30 couples were in a Chinese restaurant in Massachusetts ave. about 1:30 a. m. when an argument led to fisticuffs, and in a few moments the restaurant was a bedlam.

Two uniformed officers from a radio car tried to break up the slugfest but were forced to retreat and summon reinforcements.

Three detectives of the special service squad joined the fray, and Special Officer Frederick McLean was stabbed in the left hand as he tried to pluck one man off his back while another was tackling him by the legs.

He was treated at City Hospital for a deep gash that severed a tendon. Eight stitches were taken.

Several uniformed officers separated the combatants and sent nine men and women in a patrol wagon to the Warren ave. station to be locked up on charges of creating a riot.

A 29-year-old South End man was picked up and questioned about the McLean stabbing. For two hours, detective cars prowled South End streets, and six more men were seized for questioning

'Bitterness, Injustice' Told By Convict Seeking Parole

Edwin F. McDonald, 44, Edison Green, Dorchester, who in 1925 was given a 25-to-40-year sentence for three holdups, then pardoned under parole conditions by Gov Curley in discharge for laziness a man who was a parolee.

"He said he would squeal on me and he did—and I was fired," McDonald related. Then he got a job at another shipyard, he related, but lost that when his prison record caught up with him. It was the same thing over again when he was hired as a bus driver, he said.

Disgusted, he got drunk, held up a South End liquor store for $44, was arrested and returned to prison.

Judge Goldberg took his plea under consideration. McDonald's principal point being the old sentence was too severe and the conditions of his pardon such as to

He told the court that after he was pardoned he obtained a succession of jobs which he lost after his employers discovered he had served time. During the war he was hired at the Fore River shipyards, worked up to an employment manager's post and was do-

McDonald acted as his own counsel before Judge Lewis R. Goldberg in an effort to win freedom he lost when he became discouraged at losing jobs and staged a holdup. His pardon was revoked and he was sent back to serve the rest of his long term in August, 1946.

Wage Jumps for 90,000 Mill Workers Seen Setting Pattern

Wage increases of 10 per cent affecting 90,000 workers in northern cotton mills, 30,000 of them in New England, were assured today under an agreement reached between the Fall River and New Bedford Cotton Mfrs. Ass'n and Textile Workers' Union, CIO.

Emil Rieve, president of the TWU, said the agreement will add $6,600,000 to the yearly wages of the New England workers, and predicted the increases would become standard for all cotton mills in the North.

The agreement will be submitted for ratification to a conference of union delegates Dec. 21.

ANOTHER HOLIDAY

Ratification is expected as a matter of course. The increases will take effect Jan. 5, 1948. In addition, the contract adds a sixth paid holiday—Washington's Birthday—and improvement in company-paid insurance protection for workers in 23 association mills.

Under specified circumstances this additional protection provides payment for doctors' visits.

The pay increases average about 11 cents an hour and is the fifth won in the northern cotton-rayon weaving industry since September, 1945. The total raise since that date amounts to 45 cents an hour.

Rieve said profits of the cotton textile industry hit a record high of $360 million, after taxes, in 1946, and this year will amount to $485 million.

COSTS STABILIZED

"There is plenty of room here to take care of higher wages without causing the slightest pain to stockholders or consumers," he said. "Our new agreement gives the cotton textile industry in the north a year's guarantee of stabilized labor costs.

"The union hopes the industry will take advantage of this guarantee to reduce prices, rather than raise them."

The pay hike will lift the minimum wage from 88 to 97 cents an hour and average earnings from $1.07 to $1.18 per hour, he estimated. It also extends the present contract to March 15, 1950, with wage reopening permitted Jan. 1, 1949, and Sept. 15, 1949.

France Acts To Oust Reds In Government

By ROBERT PARKER

PARIS, Dec. 12 (INS)—France moved swiftly today to purge all Communists from government ranks and announced that 20 Soviet secret police operatives have been arrested in connection with the recent strike wave.

With the National Assembly in session prepared to decide France's future policy toward Russia in the light of constant Communist agitation, these other developments marked the day:

1—Communist party district headquarters at Lyon was wrecked by a dynamite explosion.

2—Interior Minister Jules Moch warned that the government is ready to take sternest measures. He told the French cabinet that Communist shock troops could return to action tomorrow if so ordered.

3—The government of Premier Schuman sought to learn the fate of survivors from a force of 15,000 Alsatians forcibly enrolled in the German army during the war. They are believed now held in Russia.

Ike Victor on Either Ticket, Wallace Says

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace predicted today Gen. Eisenhower would be elected President if nominated by either major party next year.

Wallace said he believed Eisenhower, soon to retire as Army chief of staff, was "less of a war candidate" than either President Truman or Gov. Dewey of New York.

Jeep-Borne Rome Police Charge Into Jeering Mobs

ROME, Dec. 12 (AP)—Jeep-borne police riot squads, swinging clubs, charged surging crowds today in the heart of strike-bound Rome, as throngs chanted the Communist anthem.

Police quickly cleared the crowds, in their concentration point below the windows of the Italian foreign office. The crowd gave way, peering and hooting.

Two Associated Press photographers from the United States, J. Walter Green and Frank Noel, were struck on the head by police clubs, but suffered no serious injury. They continued working after identifying themselves.

Rome's general strike, now in its second day, appeared to have loosened its grip somewhat, despite the determination of the Communist-controlled Chamber of Labor to pursue it to the bitter end. Strong-arm police measures weakened the strikers' effectiveness as Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democratic government pressed for a settlement.

At Piazza Colonna groups of idle bystanders had aroused the policemen by jeering, whistling and shouting insults at those detailed to protecting private vehicles which were pressed into service to relieve the shortage of transportation.

McCormick

that the "ingots of gold" orphans were to be "farmed out," from a relative who was teaching at the school in Deerfield.

Conferences and negotiations followed in the summer of 1944 between the Hardins and Fowler McCormick and Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine, 82, Chicago aunt of Muriel and the industrialist and daughter of Cyrus McCormick, inventor of the reaper.

Then began four 1000-mile "inspection" trips by the waifs to the Hardin home—between Christmas, 1944, and Easter, 1946. The fifth and last, trip was made in June, 1946, after Fowler became their legal guardian.

Mrs. Bement admitted that Fowler urged her to become custodian of the orphans in 1944, after two prior custodians named by Muriel had been pushed out through pressure of the industrialist.

OFFERED $7500

One of these, Mrs. Vera Parsons, according to testimony in the child custody fight in Superior Judge Sbarbaro's court in Chicago, was offered $7500 to quit her guardian appointment by Fowler and Mrs. Blaine.

Evidence showed the payment was never made, although Mrs. Parsons resigned in March, 1944, one year after her appointment.

Evidence developed by Muriel's side here showed that Fowler planned to separate the orphans permanently from the 45-year-old heiress, who adopted them in 1939, and had even talked about having the Hardins adopt the waifs at a later date.

This, according to Muriel's advisers, would have cut off the orphans from any claim to the estate of the late Harold F. McCormick, father of Muriel and Fowler.

Mrs. Bement told how Muriel placed the orphans in her boarding school, after the heiress joined the WAC in April, 1943, to hurdle the problem of food and gas rationing. Previously, Muriel drove the orphans to school daily from her 140-acre palatial estate in Middletown, Ct.

ADMITS PRAISE

Mrs. Bement also admitted having written letters to Muriel, praising her maternal attitude in glowing terms. She conceded her attitude changed after Fowler and Mrs. Blaine injected themselves into the picture in 1943.

A bitter antagonism now exists between Muriel and the schoolmarm. The heiress whispered query after query for her legal staff to pose to Mrs. Bement during the deposition proceedings, held in the juvenile offices of Franklin County court house here.

Muriel is well known in these parts. Strangers greeted her with words of cheer and encouragement in the multi-million-dollar court fight, temporarily suspended in Chicago during the 30-day deposition hunt for evidence by Fowler.

A taxicab driver who met her at the station called her by name and gave her a hearty handshake, wishing her well.

Riding as an ordinary commuter on the train trip to Greenfield from Meriden, Ct., Muriel appeared nostalgic as she indicated landmarks of interest in the vicinity, finally pointing out the Bement School from a train window.

DENIES DRUNK CHARGE

Mrs. Bement had charged that the heriess got drunk at a hotel here on Mother's Day in 1944, when, in uniform, she visited the orphans at the school with the then custodian of the waifs, Dr. Frances M. Clarke.

Muriel, however, has testified that she had only two cocktails, while the orphans sipped pop during the visit.

Since Fowler's deposition hunt opened last Monday, the industrialist's campaign against his younger sister has been turned into a triumphal tour for Muriel. No evidence, it was learned, has turned up so far to substantiate serious charges hurled by Fowler in a judicial chamber session with Judge Sbarbaro reflecting on Muriel's personal reputation.

Other witnesses are waiting to be interrogated in Tarrytown and Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Boston and West Palm Beach, Fla.

Of Fowler's 52 witnesses, two have been dead for several years and two others missing. This leaves 40 more for the heiress to knock out, including a brace of them in California, where she spent 25 months at Camp Beale during the war.

Atomic Hand-Grenades Help Detect Viruses More Clearly

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12 (AP)—New atomic "hand grenades" that help take pictures of viruses and other tiny particles at 200,000 times their actual size were reported today to the Electron Microscope Society of America.

The pictures not only are blown up to this tremendous new degree of magnification, but also can show objects in three dimensions, another great aid in determining the structure of some of the smallest bricks of living matter. Viruses, which cause many diseases including polio and flu, are one of the tiny things that can be seen more clearly.

The new atomic hand-grenades are bits of uranium, platinum or palladium which vaporize when heated, sending out streams of their atoms in all directions, like an exploding grenade.

FORM THIN FILM

Some of these atoms, shooting downward at an angle, strike the glass or plastic film holding the particles being studied. They form a thin film, sticking to the particles and to the platform on which they sit. Shadows are cast behind the upright particles, like a tree casts a shadow in sunlight. The shadows are areas where the flying atoms never did hit because they were blocked by the upright particles.

When the specimen then is looked at in the electron microscope, the particles seem to have three dimensions. The shadows tell how tall they are.

This method of casting shadows was developed three years ago by Drs. R. W. G. Wyckoff, scientist-director at the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, and Dr. Robley C. Williams, University of Michigan physicist.

For a time, they used gold as the best kind of metal to coat the particles. But the coating of gold tended to bubble or blister when it came under the beam of electrons used in increasingly powerful electron microscopes.

KIND OF VIRUS DETERMINED

Today, Dr. Williams and Robert C. Backus of Michigan reported better results by using uranium—in a chemical compound rather than as pure uranium—or platinum as the source of atoms to cast shadows with. Dr. Wyckoff said he was using metallic palladium very successfully for the coating work.

The improvements mark one more step toward seeing the ultimate in biological structure.

The electron microscope can be used for direct diagnosis of some skin diseases, Drs. Geoffrey Rake and F. P. O. Nagler of the Squibb Institute for Medical Research, New Brunswick, N. J., told the society.

Specimens of blister fluids or crusts on the skin can be examined to find out kind of virus may be present, they said. Viruses are tiny chemical entities responsible for a host of disease.

The microscope can distinguish between the virus of smallpox and that of chickenpox, Dr. Rake said.

GOERING TREASURE

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 12 (AP)—Bavarian police announced today discovery of a cache of old gold and silver coins they said they believed was tucked away by Reichsmarshal Goering, Hitler's deputy.

The coins—about 6000 marks in gold and 100 marks in silver—were dug up at Aurbach, near the site of one of Goering's homes. Police turned the find over the United States Military government.

JAP STORMS MAROON 6000

Tokyo, Dec. 12 (AP)—Suspension of ferry service between Aomori, Honshu, and Hakodate, Hokkaido, where blizzards have been raging for three days, has marooned 6000 passengers, Kyodo News Agency said today.

Held Dying in '44, Nubbins Ill Again

DENVER, Dec. 12 (AP)—Forrest (Nubbins) Hoffman, 6, Cheyenne, Wyo., boy who was given a "Christmas" in November, 1944, when he was not expected to live until Dec. 25 that year, was back in a Denver hospital today.

The surgeon who operated on Nubbins and saved his life three years ago said the boy was reported to be "not doing well." The doctor said he would examine Nubbins today and determine his condition. His illnesses have been caused by kidney and bladder ailments.

Intended Victim's Gun Foils Holdup

An apparent holdup attempt was thwarted in Revere early today when the intended victim, a restaurant owner on his way home from work, pulled a revolver on the bandit.

Joseph Maffei, 40, Fenno st., Revere, proprietor of a restaurant on Broadway, Revere, told police he noticed a car following him as he drove along Fenno st. At a dark section of the street, Maffei said, the car ulled ahead and cut him off.

He told police he then drew a revolver so the three men in the other car could see it. They started their car again and fled, but not before Maffei took down the registration number which he turned over to police.

Legion School To Take 450 Bay State Boys

The 1948 Boys' State program of the Massachusetts Dept. American Legion, to educate youth in the responsibilities of American citizenship will be held June 22 through July 1 at Massachusetts University, Amherst, with 450 boys from all parts of the state participating, it was announced today.

State Vice-Com. James J. Evans, in announcing the program, said that although the number of boys who can be accommodated at the college is limited, those chosen will be instructed to carry information they receive to neighborhood children.

The program is under supervision of a committee comprising more than 80 Legionnaires. Each post of the Legion in Massachusetts will sponsor at least one boy.

The Massachusetts Legion will spend more than $1,000,000 in the 1948 program, and more than 150,000 American youths will take part in similar programs in 44 states.

The boys taking part in the program have their own state, county and city governments. They elect their own officials. They have their own legislature, and introduce and argue about their own bills. They make and enforce ordinances and conduct their own elections.

They have their own police force, and administer justice in their own courts. They learn in a practical way that government is just what they make it.

15 Flee Fire In Squire Plant

Fifteen workmen escaped injury today as a $10,000 fire swept through an enugine room of the John P. Squire Co. packing plant in Gore st., East Cambridge, and cut off electric power.

The fire started in the protective covering of an inside staging on which workmen were repairing the wall of the engine room, apparently by flames from a blow torch.

Workers on the staging clambored out windows and dropped to an outside platform. Engine room employes made their way out by exits.

Firemen from Cambridge and Somerville were fighting the blaze when water affected the transformer equipment, causing it to blow out with a flash and cutting off all power in the plant. Firemen escaped without injury.

Company officials said they had completed the bulk of their work for the week so the power shutoff would not hamper operations. They expected repairs to be completed by Monday.

GE Manager to Retire After 46 Years Service

George Stevens, Summit rd., Marblehead, who rose from a six-cent an hour apprentice to general manager of the River Works plants of the General Electric at Lynn during 46 years with the company, will retire Dec. 31, it was announced today by R. C. Muir, vice-president of GE at Schenectady, N. Y.

Stevens will be succeeded by Joseph F. Eckel, Ocean ave., Swampscott.

Delaney

tive of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. He said:

"Denis Delaney not only should be absolved of any mismanagement of funds but should be complimented for his humanitarian efforts as a volunteer worker in the fight against polio.

"From Jan. 1, 1945, to Nov. 11, 1947, the time Mr. Delaney acted as chairman here, the Boston chapter has distributed $171,205 for medical and hospital equipment. The Boston chapter's funds were audited May 31, 1947, and were found to be in order."

PROBE DENOUNCED

Cong. John W. McCormack denounced the investigation of the Boston office of Collector Delaney and said the whole probe was a Republican plot to smear the Democratic party.

"It seems to me the hearings have shown Collector Delaney has made an outstanding record as collector in Boston," Cong. McCormack said.

Testimony given Atty. Gen. Clark indicated investigators found $1911 in March of Dimes funds kept in the office of John E. Burns, assistant to Delaney from last January until October, when the money was discovered in a filing cabinet

Testimony also was given that they found four checks, totaling $180, for the Absp. Cushing Fund, of which Delaney is trustee.

Delaney said today he knew nothing about the checks. As far as he knew, he added, any checks received by him as trustee, had been forwarded to the Archbishop, who was treasurer of the fund.

Regarding the sabotage of income tax files, Rep. Canfield said:

"The files were delayed in transit—allegedly a truck broke down in New Jersey. They finally arrived, and they had been tampered with and some of the files had been removed. New files had been installed."

In its findings to date on the Boston phase of the investigation, the committee listed the following "indications" which might warrant action by the Justice Department and the Civil Service Commission:

Deliberate and consistent violation of the Hatch Act, which limits political activities in government agencies.

Disregard of trust funds.

Lack of proper control over various collections from outside charitable and political organizations, including the Democratic Jefferson Day dinners and the March of Dimes.

Much of the committee inquiry centered on an "internal memorandum" written Feb. 25, 1946, to Denis W. Delaney, collector of internal revenue for the Massachusetts district, by his chief deputy, John Burns.

It read:

"In considering promotions in the field, I thought you might like to have the list of employes who purchased dinner tickets for the Hannegan reception."

Political pressure on the bureau's employes was silhouetted with the introduction of a confidential report by David A. Kelleher, special intelligence agent of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Committee evidence also showed code symbols were used for employes in the Boston office such as A, B, C, D and E, after each name. Attachments to the list indicated the code A meant "reasonably good donation, B meant "good prospect for fair donation," etc.

OPA Ex-Chief Sees Meat Scarce, High

Prediction that meat supplies would be cut 20 per cent by spring but that prices would be 35 per cent higher was made today by Leon Henderson, former OPA head, who arrived in Boston for the week-end convention of the Americans for Democratic Action at Boston City Club.

Henderson, who is chairman of the executive committee of the AFDA, asserted that even now 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 American families were being forced to go without meat and that the only way low income families would be able to get meat was by rationing.

"The Americans for Democratic Action are working to prevent further increases in cost of living items," Henderson said. "We want price-fixing now. It worked before and OPA and other controls kept down the cost of living.

"Between 1943 and V-J Day, the cost of food increased a total of 2 per cent. After controls were removed, it has been going up at the rate of 2 per cent a month.

"The Republican party has ignored the price issue and has gone all around Robin Hood's barn to avoid tackling the cost of living problem. They wrecked OPA and now they are doing nothing to halt the rising prices. Unless they act soon, the situation may get completely out of hand. I won't say it, but others have predicted serious trouble by the last quarter of next year.

"Today between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 families are forced to spend all they earn in order to live. In the past six months $88,000,000 in $25 war bonds have been cashed by families."

He said that New England did not produce enough to feed its poultry and dairy herds and faced a 25 per cent cut in feed supplies through next September.

"It may become necessary to slaughter New England dairy herds," he said, "particularly if the government continues the policy of letting nature take its course. This will result in a New England milk shortage."

Citing various increased in food prices, Henderson said the cost of all foods had jumped 2½ per cent last week and that these continued rises indicated the need of a soundly administered price control program.

Medical Research Group Meets Here

The Scientific Advisory Committee, composed of leading research scientists and medical men, today held its first meeting at the Massachusetts General Hospital to review progress made on research projects now under way and to make recommendations for future projects.

Dr. Oliver Cope, associate visiting surgeon at the Massachusetts General Hospital and assistant professor of surgery at Harvard, reviewed the work being carried on, and Dr. Edward D. Churchill, chief of the west surgical service at the hospital, told of a contemplated cancer project and chronic disease unit.

Police Admit All Clues Fail In Irwin Hunt

Search for Eugene T. Irwin, Jr. 32, missing Dorchester automobile dealer, continued today with investigators announcing that all their best clues have been exhausted.

Newest to prove fruitless was a clue which sent Irwin's brother, Atty. John Irwin, Deputy, Supt. James Sheehan and Det. Edward Crickard dashing to an out-of-town spot.

The trip was made when Dt. Crickard showed up with a cancelled check.

"Let's go," Sheehan decided.

The three were out of the city all day but on their return announced that their mission had been unsuccessful.

The lone suspect in the case, a twice-arrested Quincy man, now is free. Police decided they did not have enough to hold him on in connection with the case.

As police delved deeper into the used car business, it was reported today that a real racket exists in the resale of new and used automobiles. Many of them are sold in such far off places as China and India at fabulous prices, it was said.

Detectives said Irwin, in his desire to purchase late model automobiles, may have run up against an automobile mob that robbed him of $7000 and now fear to allow him to go free.

S. End Residents Denounce Pupils

The Boston school committee today debated a plea by South End residents that the Franklin School, Waltham st., a school for backward girls, be moved from the district because of the ruthlessness of its pupils.

Dwellers in that area appeared before the board to complain that the neighborhood was being terrorized after classes by bottle throwing, profanity and theft.

One storekeeper said he closed up his variety shop when school recessed because thefts endangered his business.

Dr. Helen F. Cummings, director of special classes in Boston schools, pointed out the girls are South End residents between the ages of 5 and 15 and the institution is making progress in teaching them to lead normal lives.

Extra Metro Cars to Aid Yule Shopping Crowds

For the convenience of Christmas shoppers, more subway and surface cars will be operated in the middle of the day by the Metropolitan Transit Authority, it was announced today.

There will be 14 more cars per hour on the Forest Hills-Everett elevated, 11 more cars on the Cambridge-Dorchester subway, and eight more in the East Boston tunnel. Similar increases have been ordered on the principal street car, bus and trackless trolley lines.

Rep. Lodge Urges U. S. Troops Remain in Italy to Stem Red Advance

By DAVID SENTNER
Boston American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—Picturing Russia as attempting to seize Italy by internal aggression, Rep. John Davis Lodge (R.) of Connecticut, urged President Truman to keep American troops in Italy.

The present official plan is to withdraw American forces by Dec. 15.

"The liberty, territorial integrity and independence of Italy, the national security of the U. S. and the peace of the world may well depend on our ability to protect the legality of the Italian government from extra-legal force," Lodge wrote the President.

"If Italy is conquered by internal Communist force our position in Greece will be outflanked and the strategical position of Turkey will be rendered almost untenable.

"The entire Middle East, including Arabian oil, the Suez Canal and Egypt, will be threatened and, without an overt act of war, the iron curtain might well be extended to high tide on the Atlantic."

Lodge further pointed out:

The lives of American occupation troops in Trieste and Austria might be at stake if Italy goes Communist, inasmuch as supply lines to those areas would be endangered.

Eisenhower Aide Stresses Value of Universal Training

Special to the Boston Evening American

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 12—World War II would have been shortened, with much less bloodshed, if America had had a program of Universal Military Training, in the opinion of Maj. Gen. Ray W. Barker, who was General Eisenhower's Ass't Chief of Staff.

In an address to the annual dinner of alumni of the Manlius School, of which he is now superintendent, Gen. Barker gave his unqualified endorsement to a system of Military Training for all youth, asserting it makes for better students and citizens.

"The crying need for something of this sort was apparent to us throughout the European campaign" the general told an interviewer. "We could have made troops available for action months sooner had Universal Military Training been in operation. Why not profit by that lesson?

"The entry of American troops into battle would have been much accelerated, and this inevitably would have brought the war to an earlier end. Naturally, there would have been fewer casualties."

Gen. Barker made a point which he considered even more important:

"We are much less liable to be dragged into war if it is known that we are prepared.

"In both world wars, the Germans gambled on our ability to intervene in time to turn the balance. They counted on the time factor, realizing we did not have trained reserves.

"We at Manlius are definitely committed to the philosophy that preparation for citizenship should include preparation for service in the armed forces, if necessary. We have found, through long experience, that military training enhances the value of academic work and preparation for citizenship."

Bay State Boy Champion 1947 Vegetable Grower

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 12 (INS)—Lewis G. Schaeneman, Jr., 11, of East Longmeadow, Mass., won the 1947 championship award of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Ass'n.

He received a $500 scholarship from $6000 in awards offered annually by the Atlantic & Pacific food stores to farm youngsters doing outstanding work in production and marketing of vegetables.

New Parachute 'Blows Its Top'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—A parachute which "blows its top" under stress has been developed by the Navy as a means for airplane pilots to bail out safely at 500 miles an hour, the Naval Aviation News said today.

Conventional parachutes are designed to withstand the opening strain of speeds up to only 250 miles an hour, much too slow for a jet pilot in a jam at low altitude.

The new one has a top panel which fits the canopy like a cap, held in place by elastic cords. Under heavy opening stresses, the cap lifts and allows air to spill out. As the jumper's speed lessens, the elastic cords pull the cap back into place.

Experiments with the new chute have been limited so far to dropping dummy bombs. It was designed by chief parachute rigger John F. Geary, a veteran of 19 years in the Navy, at the parachute experimental unit of the Lakehurst, N. J., Naval Air Station.

MUTE DENIED DIVORCE

George Porter, Jr., of Beach st., Revere, was denied a divorce from Irene Porter of Anawan st., Taunton, by Judge John V. Mahoney in Suffolk Probate Court. The wife, who had sued for separate support, was granted $10 a week for herself and 13-month-old daughter. Both husband and wife are deaf mutes.

FIRE CHIEF'S WIFE HURT

COTUIT, Dec. 12—Mrs. Ethel Campbell, wife of Fire Chief Louis Campbell, was under treatment today for a broken right arm following an auto accident at Quincy Shore drive and East Squantum st., Quincy.

Marshall, Molotov Clash Again

LONDON, Dec. 12 (AP)—American officials reported tonight Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov had renewed his bitter attacks on the western powers in the Foerign Ministers Council today and Sec. Marshall told him in response:

"It is very difficult to have any respect for the dignity of the Soviet government."

First information on today's reportedly stormy meeting was that Molotov offered no compromise on outstanding issues before the Council, but instead lambasted the policies of the western powers.

8 Oil Tankers Split, $70,000 Each to Fix

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—An Interior Department official said today that a program of rehabilitating idle tankers to meet fuel oil shortages will be delayed from two to six weeks by structural weaknesses discovered in the ships within the last three days.

Max W. Ball, director of the department's oil and gas division, recalled before a House Interstate Commerce committee studying fuel shortages that a T-2 type tanker split in two Tuesday while under repair at Boston. He then reported the same thing happened Wednesday at Hoboken, N. J. He added:

"In all, eight of these tankers have come apart since the war.

"It has now been decided that all of these tankers must be strengthened in the midsection at an expenditure of about $70,000 a tanker."

Repair and conversion of 50 of these now-idle maritime commission tankers has been pushed by the Navy.

New Drug Boosts Penicillin Effect

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (AP)—A new drug which increases the effectiveness of penicillin and reduces the high cost of its use was described at the University of Maryland Medical School here by Dr. Paul W. Wilcox, research director for a Philadelphia pharmaceutical firm.

Dr. Wilcox said the use of the new substance, carotimide, in connection with penicillin would inhibit the rapid excretion of the latter drug from the kidneys, thereby keeping it on the job [illegible] seven times longer.

He said that without the use of the newly-developed substance penicillin must be used in "enormous and economically impractical doses" to fight such infections as typhoid fever, enterovirus [illegible] and subacute endocarditis, a serious heart ailment. He described it as a white, tasteless benzoic acid derivative.

ANOTHER WAR SCANDAL?

ONE OF THE MOST shocking stories yet told of the New Deal's political mismanagement of the war, and of its arrogant concealment of the truth from the American people, has been revealed by Mr. George H. Earle, former Governor of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Earle, who held a commission as a commander in the Navy, was sent to eastern Europe in 1943 by President Roosevelt as his personal diplomatic representative to advise the White House on Balkan affairs.

In February, 1945, he came back to this country with information as to Soviet Russia's postwar intentions.

President Roosevelt went to Yalta—where Marshal Stalin was flattered and "appeased"—without first receiving his own representative and providing himself with the information available.

On the President's return from Yalta, Mr. Earle—unable to obtain an interview—wrote to him through a White House secretary, requesting permission to expose Soviet Russia as "A GREATER MENACE THAN GERMANY." The letter said:

"I have seen this with my own eyes ... unless I hear from you within a week I will make a statement to the American people."

"I intended," Mr. Earle has since said, "to tell the American people about the carefully laid plans of Stalin to sweep Europe and the Balkans with a wave of Communist strikes as soon as the war ended.

"As Roosevelt's personal representative in the Middle East, I had DOCUMENTARY PROOF that Moscow intended to make Europe a Soviet satellite."

The President petulantly wrote to him saying:

"I specifically forbid you to publish any information or opinion about an ally that you may have acquired while in office or in the service of the United States Navy."

Furthermore, Mr. Earle's diplomatic function was peremptorily ended; a prospective termination of his naval service was canceled; and he was exiled—assigned to duty—in Samoa, where he was detained for four months, until Mr. Truman had succeeded to the Presidency.

Mr. Roosevelt's action was a dictatorial application of executive censorship.

Meanwhile, the Soviet appeasement continued: and its consequences are now ominously evident in the revolutionary commotions in France and Italy; in the forcible establishment of Red regimes in the Balkans and Poland; and in the Kremlin's obstructive refusal to permit peace settlements in Austria and Germany.

In point of plain fact, the warlike Truman doctrine in Greece and Turkey, and the Marshall Plan to "contain" Communism in Europe—at a frightful expense of billions of dollars to the American people—are direct results of the New Deal's tolerance—or, even worse, its encouragement and approval—of Communist aggression and intrigue.

This country's reckless and feckless procedures in international relations cannot be corrected until the public knows the commitments and the blunders that our Government has made.

DRAIN ON OIL

GOVERNOR HORACE HILDRETH of Maine has announced that two portable Diesel generators will be installed at Presque Isle to produce electric power for Aroostook County.

This is TEMPORARY RELIEF. What about PERMANENT RELIEF?

Only the revival of the Passamaquoddy Project and the development of Maine's shamefully neglected water power resources will provide that.

Besides, Mr. Hildreth ought to know that Diesel generators consume great quantities of fuel oil which could be used in the furnaces of the New England homes that are threatened with petroleum rationing.

Water power is Maine's greatest natural resource, and it can make the people of that State independent and prosperous.

All that in woman is adored
In your dear self I find
For the whole sex can but afford
The beautiful and kind.
Why then should I seek further store
And still make love anew?
When change itself can give no more
'Tis easy to be true.
—CHARLES SEDLEY.

ALL MALE architects and designers of household equipment should do actual housework for at least a year. Then they wouldn't design houses or equipment that make life more of a burden for the nation's harassed housekeepers. That's what our domestic engineer claims. She says her work is at least three times more difficult than it would be if an experienced housekeeper had planned the houses she has worked in or the equipment she has to work with. Her bitter comment was inspired by a stove in which the broiler is at the bottom. She has to get down on the floor to handle the situation.

HATS—As to who designs Dowager Queen Mary's hats, I cannot inform you. However, Queen Elizabeth's hats are designed by Aage Thaarup. Some name for a hat designer, what? Queen Elizabeth, or any of the feminine members of the royal family, will not have Bird of Paradise feathers in their hats. Or any feathers that entail cruelty to birds from which they are obtained. This brings to mind none of the jockeys riding the British King's horses are permitted to carry whips.

Queen Elizabeth

HAPPY PAIR—Irene Dunne, the Kentucky Duse, will, in 1948, celebrate the 20th anniversary of her marriage to Dr. Francis Griffin, the debonair dentist. The 20th anniversary is the china wedding. Irene is one of my favorite actresses. Guess I will have to start saving up to buy her a china teapot.

PASSING BY—"Babe" Zaharias, Nee Mildred Didrickson. World's most versatile woman athlete. "Babe" is going to try to enter the U. S. National Open golf championship in 1948. So far no woman has been permitted to compete in this event ... Colin Clements, playwright. And his charming wife and collaborator, Florence Ryerson. Colin says Florence and himself collected so much money from royalties on their hit play, "Harriett," they were enabled to buy annuities to take care of their financial future in a very nice way. Sounds wonderful. If I didn't have my racing system to take care of me in my old age I would write a couple of plays myself.

WALTZ—Are you familiar with the tune of "Ach du Lieber Augustin?" If you are and your daughter isn't, hum it to her. Why? Well, it is historically important. Composed in 1770, it was the first waltz tune of all time. What is your favorite waltz tune? Mine is "Two Hearts That Beat In Waltz Time."

SINGAPORE—Singapore is rapidly recovering from the Jap occupation and is nearly itself again. Food is plentiful there. One Singapore restaurant boasts of offering the "largest mixed grill in the world." This consists of eight kinds of meat, tomatoes, potatoes with a fried egg on top. Sounds all right except the fried egg. Who started that idea of putting fried eggs on top of things? I am especially opposed to a fried egg on top of corned beef hash.

STEADY JOBS—Ever hear of an organization, employing hundreds of people, from which nobody has been discharged in fifty years? That's the record of Hunt and Witherbotham's Mills in the valley of Cam, Gloucestershire, Eng. Among other items this mill manufactures billiard cloths. Makes most of the billiard cloths used throughout the world.

CANARIES—Green canaries are better singers and live longer than yellow canaries. So states an expert on the subject. He also says you can teach a canary to sing most any tune. If I thought I could teach a canary to sing "Ring the Bells of Old South College," and "Are You There, Moriarity," I would buy one.

SAYS SHE — "You are opposed to women using first names intended for men. And for men using first names intended for women," writes a Bostonian. "Well, I'm a girl and my name is Michael. If Ruby Goldstein, the fight referee, changes his first name to Michael I will change mine to Ruby. Is that fair enough?"

ASIDES—Among the wedding presents received by Princess Elizabeth was a transcription of the radio version of the play, "Victoria Regina," based on the romance of Queen Victoria and her consort Prince Albert ... Another film version of "Oliver Twist" has recently been produced. This time in England. Of all the portrayals, stage or screen, of "Oliver Twist" I have seen, I liked Jackie Coogan's the best.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 — I should like to report more about the Josephson Brothers, Leon and Bernard, and the Cafes Society, Uptown and Downtown, New York, which have been given a great deal of free advertising in the night club and amusement columns of our press.

Westbrook Pegler

Such copy is optional, it has absolutely no news value. Ed Sullivan, who covers this run for the New York News, gave us a good example recently in an item gratuitously announcing the beginning of an engagement at the Uptown house by Larry Adler, a vaudeville act, who plays the mouth organ.

Last February, the Thomas Committee on Un-American Activities discovered that Leon Josephson obtained by fraud an American passport for Gerhart Eisler, alleged chief of the Soviet conspiracy against the people and the Government of the United States.

Bernard Josephson is one of the incorporators of Cafe Society which operates both cafes. Lucy Josephson, the wife of Leon, is a co-holder of the liquor license for the Uptown place. They all live in an apartment on West 16th st., New York.

EISLER'S PASSPORT was issued in the name of Samuel Liptzen, age about 55, born in Lipsk, Russia, who came here in 1909, became a citizen in 1917, helped to establish the Communist Party in the United States in 1920 and has been a member ever since.

Liptzen has an office in the building at 35 East 12th st., which houses the National and State Communist parties, the Daily Worker and Freiheit, a Jewish paper which shares machinery with the Worker.

THE APPLICATION for the false passport for Eisler, issued in the name of Liptzen, was accompanied by Liptzen's naturalization papers.

Liptzen told the committee under oath that these papers were stolen by a burglar from his room at 228 or 230 West 14th st., in the Red blotch of downtown New York, in the summer of 1932 or 1933. He said he raised an outcry and that the police came but did nothing.

He lived in this apartment three or four years but could not remember the address.

LOUIS J. RUSSELL, a former FBI man now a detective for the committee, said Liptzen actually took two years to report the theft of his papers, a precious possession of every naturalized alien.

Leon Josephson refused to testify and was tried and convicted of contempt of Congress in the District Court in New York. He got one year and a fine of $1000. He is now out on appeal.

A government expert swore to his opinion that Leon Josephson filled in the questionnaire in the application for the passport which was issued to Eisler.

Eisler proceeded to Paris as Liptzen, and there got a visa from the Soviet authorities for a trip to Russia.

IN DECEMBER, 1934, Barney Josephson went to Spain, although he had been idle and appeared to be broke. The next year, Barney is defected as a sponsor of the Spanish Refugee Appeal.

This was a branch of the Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee which paid Eisler a living allowance as a functionary in New York.

It also financed the triumphant return to Yugoslavia of Drog Tito, whose followers later murdered five American Army fliers by shooting them down, unarmed, over territory which the United States had liberated from the Germans.

Leon Josephson was arrested in Copenhagen in 1936 with George Mink, a Russian, who had four American passports. One had been issued to Harry Hyman Kaplan of Trenton, N. J., the Josephsons' home town. Kaplan owned a hotel in Trenton and Barney Josephson had worked for him.

Mr. Russell testified that Kaplan said his passport had been stolen by Barney Josephson. He told Mr. Russell, however, that he couldn't prove it.

AN APPLICANT for a passport must be accompanied by a witness to identify him. Apparently the identifying witness is not required to establish his own true identity. A Government expert swore to his professional opinion that Eisler's witness, who identified him as Liptzen, was Leon Josephson. This witness gave the name of "Bernard A. Hirschfield."

Bernard is the first name of Josephson's brother.

Leon was born in Libau, Latvia, now in Soviet Russia, but Barney was born in Trenton of the same parents. Both enjoyed American freedom and opportunity, but Leon, nevertheless, told the American consul-general in Copenhagen that he put above all the laws of the United States the orders of his Communist Central Committee.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, DEC. 12, 1947

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 12 (INS)—Al Jolson goes to Louis B. Mayer at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Yes, I mean it. L. B. himself signed the deal with Al for the sequel to "The Jolson Story," which was originally to have been made at Columbia.

Incidents in the life of the popular "Mammy" singer not already incorporated in "The Jolson Story" will be shown in the sequel. L. B., who is very enthusiastic over signing Jolson, has assigned Edwin Knopf to produce and a director will be chosen in a few days.

Gene Kelly is the MGM Jolson, with Jolson, of course, singing his own numbers. I wonder why a newcomer wasn't chosen, as Larry Parks was in the original story. Seems to me it would be a great chance both for the studio and for an actor. One of the most fantastic things in show business is the comeback of Al after his life story was put on the screen.

TYRONE POWER is getting restless to return to work after his three months of globe trotting—or should I say, sky trotting? So, "That Old Magic" will be started before many days with Ida Lupino as co-star.

It's good to see Ida these days, she's so happy. She has a little happiness coming to her, and I hope she will find it with Collier Young.

I don't know him well, but everyone has such nice things to say about him, and in a town where there is so much criticism, that means something.

The reason Peggy Cummins will not play with Ty is because she didn't finish her English picture in time.

IF ELEANOR POWELL and Glenn Ford ever had any troubles when he first got out of the service, they're all over now. They miss each other very much since Eleanor has been on public appearances — and that's for sure.

Eleanor Powell

In fact, Eleanor is so anxious to get back home that she has bought "The Girl from Beverly Hills," an original story by a public stenographer in Chicago, which she would like very much to make with her husband.

It's about show business with a serious twist. Glenn is submitting the story to his boss, Harry Cohn, and if the head man likes it, well, it will be put on the screen with the Fords co-starring.

JANE WYMAN, as I said, is back home again, but in such a highly nervous state that she has made no statement.

However, she was on the Warner lot yesterday to discuss "John Loves Mary" with Jack Warner.

At the time I broke my story of their separation, I said that Jane was ill, and I think that is the real trouble between her and Ronnie Regan. I am sure they are back together and whatever happened is all fixed up.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Over the week-end William Arlington, a wealthy man from Montreal, will fly in to ask Eve Arden to marry him. Eve has never met Arlington, and the chances are 99 to 1 he'll get a big "No."

So far, Arlington has sent Eve such gifts as a stone marten stole, a gold wrist watch, and a pair of diamond clips, all of which were promptly returned. But Arlington is determined and believes if you don't succeed at first, try, try again.

When "Gentleman's Agreement" opened in New York the criticisms were what most producers dream about and seldom get. There wasn't a dissenting vote in the lot.

I came home to the same enthusiasm. I have already told Darryl Zanuck in print how good I think "Gentleman's Agreement" is, and what a fine thing he has done for the whole industry in making a picture of this type. But I want to say it again after seeing it a second time.

Well, come voting time for the Academy Awards, this will be the one to beat. Seems to me we have some excellent performances to choose from this year, but as is my custom I will not say what picture should win the Academy prize, or what stars—I have my own opinion, and since I belong to the Academy, I'll vote that way.

I LIKE Rand Brooks' sense of humor in tossing a "premiere" in honor of his 11th "Hopalong Cassidy" movie! It's been a long time between premieres for Rand (his last was "Gone With the Wind") and after four years in the service he decided to crack out with a special showing of his latest "Cassidy."

With searchlights scanning the skies, two little Negro boys announcing his guests over a loud speaker, and the ladies promising to wear their mink or ermine coats, Rand staged his shindig at General Service Studios last night.

Refreshments were served on a sound stage after the movie with Vic Mature, his good friend, officiating at the buffet table.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Oh, dear, listen to this! Monogram is investing $50,000 to launch Don Castle as having "the Clark Gable look." They say he's a ringer for Gable in his younger days. But can he act, and has he the Gable charm? You're welcome, Clark.

Speaking of Gable, he took Lady Sylvia Ashley Fairbanks Stanley out once and all the gossip writers in New York have them paired. 'T aint true.

That was Luther Adler, Sylvia Sidney's ex, with Audrey Totter. They were at a table for two at Jay's at the beach.

Audrey Totter

Ran into Van and Evie Johnson in Adrian's, Christmas shopping. Merle and Lucien Ballard were there at the same time. The Johnson baby is due in January and they are hoping for a little girl. Merle and Lucien leave for Sun valley next week. Seems there will be a big delegation there during the holidays.

Dehorah Kerr's baby is expected the 20th, and she thinks it's going to be a girl.

I was thrilled to meet Galli Curci at Manuel Reachi's. Reachi's wife, Lolita, is being coached by Galli-Curci's husband, Mr. Samuels, and her voice is beautiful. She sang "One Fine Day" so well that with a little more training she will probably land in the Metropolitan. Reachi is one of Mexico's top producers and will make a picture with Dolores Del Rio when she returns from South America.

One of the sights in the Beverly Hills Hotel cocktail lounge today was Rudy Vallee and Evelyn Knight drinking large, foaming glasses of milk.

Olive Carey, widow of Harry, who acted as her husband's agent and business manager for years, has gone into business with her son, Harry Jr., as her first client.

Errol Flynn had a visitor today, the Princess Behar of Hyderabad, India. Remember, she was sent to this country to get the Maharajah of Cooch-Behar home, but he had already fled.

Vanessa Brown goes to Broadway for "The Devil in Boston," the Lion Feuchtwanger play. Twentieth gave her permission.

Frank King, of the King Brothers, who weighs 300 pounds, was riding horseback on location until the horse rebelled and sat down.

Corinne Calvay, the French gal who has never made a picture here, out with Bill Pine's son, Howard, at Tom Breneman's. Tom, by the way, is bringing out a magazine. This is in addition to running a restaurant, being on the radio, wearing crazy hats and making an occasional movie.

At May Mann's party for Maria Montez, Lili Damita was with Kurt Kruger, Peggy Ann Garner with Lon McCallister and Richard Ney with Lina Romay. I think Richard and Lina were an encore, but the rest were new twosomes.

My Boston

By Alan Frazer

BETWEEN US: The alleged situation in the Boston office of the Internal Revenue Department, mentioned in dispatches from Washington last night, was noted in this column Oct. 28 . . . Arthur Martel, whom you must remember as organist at the Met, was one of 400 who had a narrow escape in a five-alarm fire at Sullivan's Steak House in Providence . . . Sven Rye, Swedish newspaperman who acts as secretary to Carl Brisson, is completing a novel which he calls "Reflection of the Stars." It deals with the age-old wisdom: If you can't grab the stars, be content with what you can get.

CHARLEY KURTZMAN of Loew's is willing to call his system of relaxing the Mugglebee-Kurtzman system but won't concede to our beauty editor that men need pillows a la the Hudnut Salon style . . . We'll see what John Garfield thinks. (Remember? Back on the floor, feet on a chair?) . . . Sally Keith, who was in Faulkner Hospital this week with an old knee injury (which doesn't interfere with tassel-twirling) will go to Florida next month . . . We hear that Massachusetts native sons like Sen. Saltonstall can't be boosted by the politicians (not this far from nomination date) because, after all, only a heartbeat lies between Joe Martin and the White House . . . A Boston woman asked a dining-car waiter for the recipe of a delicious fudge cake. The chef sent it to her—with a bill for $25. And her lawyer told her to pay . . . The principal of a well known Boston business school is burned up at the method used by the Veterans' Administration to bend the schools to its will regarding courses of study for ex-GIs.

SADDEST Charlestown State Prison inmate is Willie Dart . . . Sent away for life for second degree murder in 1931, he was lucky enough to gain his freedom five years afterward, with a pardon under parole conditions . . . He was at liberty only 10 months when Boston police picked him up on suspicion of breaking and entering . . . Then he was accused of violating the terms of his parole by being in company of a person with a criminal record and other lesser violations . . . His pardon was revoked and he was sent back to prison—to finish his life there . . . Ten years passed . . . Last week he applied to Superior Court for a writ of habeas corpus in an attempt to gain his freedom. His plea was rejected . . . Willie claims he never got a trial on suspicion of break and entering . . . But oddly enough, he based his plea chiefly on this: That another man, Harry Baker, was sent to prison for life, later pardoned and paroled . . . Baker went to Texas, committed a crime and served a long term in prison there . . . When he got out, ex-Gov. Tobin and the Massachusetts Dept. of Correction waived their right to bring him back here to finish out his life term . . . Willie said this constitutes discrimination against himself!

FOR TWO YEARS, WBZ, putting on its Starlight Serenade of slumber music after its last newscast, played for a theme song a few bars of a Chopin nocturne . . . Requests poured in to play the whole thing, but no transcription could be obtained . . . Soon, music stores in Boston had a backlog of 3500 unfilled orders for a disk . . . Eventually, BMI, the New York transcription makers, put an arranger to work, hired Larry Green to make a recording . . . It is called "My Promise to You." . . . Last Tuesday night was the big night . . . WBZ was to play the new disk and 15 minutes of Larry Green music . . . Thousands were listening, Larry Green and his orchestra, out at The Meadows, finished a round of numbers, dashed upstairs to tune in the station . . . Came over the air no Larry Green recording of the nocturne, no Larry Green music at all . . . The reason: Entering the studio with two arms full of Larry Green disks, including the new record, a disk jockey tripped over a wire, dropped everything, saw them all smashed to bits . . . Incidentally, the new disk has been released to WBZ two months ahead of national distribution . . . The number on the back has to be given its advance plugging first . . . WBZ has agreed not to turn the record over during that period.

MURIEL McCORMICK HUBBARD, now in that multi-million-dollar custody suit, served in the WAC at Ft. Devens and refurnished the hostess house there at a personal expense of $15,000 . . . The Jones Brothers trio, who used to play the Ritz-Carlton roof and New York's Copacabana are at Cain's, Weymouth . . . The Down Beat, newest night spot, opposite the Met, opened Wednesday with Milt Britton and his orchestra and a comedy team, and will proceed on a name-band policy . . . Jewish War Veterans, Dept. of Massachusetts, will have a combined mass induction and Americanism Day program at Faneuil Hall Sunday evening . . . East Boston Post 6, Italian-American World War Veterans, will distribute cigarets to veterans at Chelsea Old Soldiers Home, with the help of its auxiliary, on Sunday . . . Have you seen the exact copy of Princess Elizabeth's wedding gown in Jordan's window? . . . The Veterans Administration is after the House of the Angel Guardian property, South Huntington ave., for a 1000-bed hospital . . . Jeanie Cole of the Record and Frank Harris of the Globe will tie the knot in January.

JAMES W. GERARD, ambassador to Germany just before World War I, sent a letter of apology to Gov. Bradford for not being present when the Gerard Trophy was presented to Sgt. Wilfred Sirois of the State Police . . . Wrote Gerard: "You are occupying the same position to which my great-grandfather, Increase Sumner, was elected three times (1797-1799). I am delighted that Sgt. Sirois is carrying on the sharpshooting tradition of Bunker Hill" . . . Americans of Italian descent will meet Dec. 16 at St. Anthony's Hall, Prince st., to organize a post of the Italian-American World War Veterans of the United States.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—We were having dinner at Gracie Mansion, which is New York's equivalent of the White House, and I was being mighty impressed by the splendor, when Hizzoner the Mayor said:

"Georgie, me boy, I'd like to tell you something. Every morning I walk up and down the porch here, surveying the grandeur, and I say to meself: 'Bill, don't take all this too seriously. Remember, the time will come when you have to go back to that furnished room!'"

I was very glad of the opportunity to talk to Mayor William O'Dwyer.

I spent an evening the like of which I had never spent before—an evening of mirth, melody, and kidding in high places. If they had such evenings in the Kremlin I'll bet there wouldn't be Communism there either.

I REMARKED as much to Hizzoner and he roared: "Communism hasn't a chance in this country if we keep our sense of humor. It can't stand up against joy. It's the gospel of the disgruntled.

"Me a Communist? How could a fellow who was permitted to come up from cop on the beat to mayor of the greatest city in the world, ever be critical of the American way of living?"

I told the mayor I had heard talk around Washington that he is flirting with the idea of running for U. S. Senator next year to replace the ailing Sen. Robert F. Wagner. The pitch I was given was that President Truman had almost talked him into it, advancing the argument it was imperative the Democrats have a strong, fighting Senator from New York.

"Nothing to it!" snapped the Hon. Bill. "I've got two more years to go in this job and I'm sticking it out. But I'll tell you something: I'm going to stump the country for whoever the Democrats nominate for president."

WHEN I went to Gracie Mansion I thought it would be a quiet, dignified evening with the mayor, but it turned out to be a surprise party for my old associate, William Donoghue. Bill is executive secretary to the mayor.

It seems the belligerent Mr. Donoghue has been having difficulty convincing people, particularly police, that he is a man of importance, and has been getting the brushoff when he comes with instructions from Hizzhonor.

Comr. Wallender ordered Willie to stand up at attention and then hung a wooden badge more than a foot square around his neck. While Mr. Donaghue was restraining his natural impulse to kick another cop, the commissioner handed him a normal size badge, saying:

"The big one is for around City Hall. The small one is for the subway."

THE BADGE, on inspection, turned out to be the equivalent of assistant chief of the department, meaning there is only one uniformed cop still high enough to kick Mr. Donoghue around. As the blushing recipient attempted to look properly modest, Mr. Paul Schoenstein, the singing city editor, known as the Bing Crosby of the city desk, murmured:

"There seems to have been a change in our Willie's relations with the police department. How has that been achieved?"

"Easily," guffawed Mayor O'Dwyer. "We changed the police department!"

Two Baby Boys Must Drink 68 Quarts Water Daily to Live

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (INS)—Johns Hopkins Hospital authorities disclosed today the strange story of two Baltimore "water babies," forced to drink 34 quarts of water a day, each, to survive.

Robert Werner, 4, and his brother, Jacob, 2, like an older brother who has since died, were born with a kidney malfunction which necessitates a huge fluid intake to preserve life.

Mrs. Kathia Werner, their mother, explained:

"They have been taught to play from morning to night near a faucet and to drink water constantly. When they go to bed, there is a quart bottle of water beside them. Members of the family refill the bottles during the night."

When, for any reason, either of the boys is unable to maintain his water intake at home, he is rushed to Johns Hopkins. The Werners have a standing arrangement with the municipal ambulance service for emergency trips to the hospital.

Dr. Richard Dormont, who has observed the "water babies" since birth, said there is no known cure for the rare ailment.

BIG NAME COURT

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 12 (AP)—Bearers of famous names enliven the day in the court of Circuit Judge Waldo C. Mayfield. He said:

"I wonder if any more famous names will come before me today," the judge remarked.

Next defendant: Theodore Roosevelt Means.

Homesick Sailor Lands in Toils

A homesick sailor's desire to see his grandmother in Brandon, Vt., landed him and his pal in court today on a charge of using an auto without authority.

Stanley Colpas, 20, Brandon, and William Gipson, 24, Atlanta, both patients at the Chelsea Naval Hospital, were arrested early yesterday at Manchester, N. H., when police spotted a car reported stolen from School st., Boston, Wednesday.

The pair pleaded guilty to the charge of taking the car of Maynard Young of Portsmouth, N. H., a student at Northeastern University.

Judge Gillen continued the case until Wednesday so Young, who is taking exams this week, can have time to get the vehicle and determine if any damage was done to it. He ordered the sailors held on $300 bail each.

FINLAND PAYS UP AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—Finland paid the U. S. another $260,852.24 on an $8,400,000 debt and thus kept its record of being the only country which has never defaulted on post-World War I debts.

U. S. Jewry Asked For $283,156,000

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 12 (AP)—American Jewry was asked today to provide $283,156,000 for aid to Palestine in 1948, a sum that would earmark $28,000,000 for the purchase of arms to equip a Judean army of "tens of thousands of men."

Ellezer Kaplan of Jerusalem, treasurer of the Jewish agency for Palestine, told 1500 delegates to the National Conference of the United Jewish Appeal a full-time army must be recruited to meet current Arab threats of a holy war. He set no estimate of strength other than that the army should comprise "tens of thousands."

"We have the manpower to defend and secure the Jewish state, but we need the help of the Jews of America to purchase the necessary equipment and to provide for the training and maintenance of the defense forces of the Jewish state," Kaplan said.

STUDY HOSPITAL PLANS

Plans for construction of a maternity wing at Whidden Memorial Hospital will be studied by hospital officials and members of the Everett City Council at a meeting there tonight.

English Throne Pretender Dies

LITTLE DEWCHURCH, Eng., Dec. 12 (AP)—Anthony Hall, who had shouted for 22 years the Windsors were imposters and he was the rightful King of England, died today almost without notice from his "loving subjects." He was 53.

Hall asserted he was the ninth in direct descent from a son of King Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn, although there was no record of her bearing a son. The pretender dismissed this airily by saying birth registration in the 16th century was faulty.

He sent an ultimatum to King George V to vacate the throne, saying:

"You are an outsider. Leave the country."

This ultimatum and another in greater detail sent to Edward VIII, now the Duke of Windsor, were ignored.

Hall fought in the first World War and was a munitions maker in the second.

2 CHILDREN DROWNED

CIO Official Backs Marshall Plan, Hits Reactionary Foes

Chief opposition to the Marshall Plan comes from reactionary interests in this country, James B. Carey, national secretary-treasurer of the CIO, today told 600 delegates of of the state CIO convention at the Hotel Bradford.

A national survey by the CIO, Carey said, disclosed the average American supports the plan.

Departing from his prepared speech, Carey told the delegates that he had returned within the past few weeks from the World Federation of Trade Unions in Paris. At that conference, attended by delegates from 63 nations, the Harriman Report, basis of the Marshall Plan, was endorsed by the meeting. Only delegates from Russia and Italy opposed it, he said.

The people of Europe he said, are ready and willing to help themselves.

"The people of the United States must share their production with Europe so people there can get back on their feet. They need the tools and the food which the United States is sending," Carey said.

He told the convention Soviet opposition to the Harriman report was stilled when representatives of that nation were asked if the billions America had poured into Russia during the war had interfered with the workings of that state.

Carey called on union members to take a more active part in politics. He told the delegates that labor's role in government is becoming more important each year.

Joseph Salerno, president of the State CIO, told the delegates wage demands depend on living costs.

"We say to our friends, the employers," he said, "Roll back prices 24 per cent on the average, 40 per cent on food, and labor will be satisfied with wage increases based only on the greater productivity of labor and on the profits of American industry'."

He also urged effective price control policy. He declared that the record of the past 16 months shows that the voluntary program which was to bring down prices after price controls were eliminated has not worked. For that reason, he said, the working people will be out to seek the defeat of 96 per cent of the Republicans in Washington when they come up for election next year.

Woman, 28 Men to Die For Salonika Red Plot

SALONIKA, Dec. 12 (AP)—Twenty-nine persons — including one woman—were under sentence of death today following conviction by a military court on charges of plotting a Communist uprising in Salonika.

Life sentences were imposed on 16 others, and 20 more were given lesser prison terms. Seven were acquitted.

YULE MIRACLE

NATCHEZ, Miss., Dec. 12 (AP)—A little Canadian girl entrusted her hope of a miracle to a Christmas tree—and miracles happen where there's warmth of heart.

The tree was among a thousand from Canada unloaded here, but what made this an extra special tree was a note to Santa Claus stoutly tied around the trunk. The note read:

"I am a little girl 11 years. Would like a doll for Christmas and some money, just a few cents. I am very poor."

Radio station WMIS promptly sent a doll and some money. Then the story of the tree was broadcast.

The station was flooded with offers of dolls, money and other gifts.

Ong Jung, 43, Bowers st., Newtonville, who ran an opium den as an adjunct to a gambling business in his laundry there, according to police, was fined $200 by Judge James Luby in Newton district court today.

Ong pleaded not guilty to possessing narcotics, registering bets and setting up and promoting a lottery. His uncle, Ong Chew, 60, was found guilty, too, and fined $15. Police said they found the opium, $3900 in cash and bank books listing $10,000 in deposits.

Judge Adlow Blames Officials For Women's Drinking Orgies

Placing the basic blame for current promiscuous drinking by women on "authorities who indiscriminately distributed licenses after prohibition to men who can hardly take care of themselves," Judge Elijah Adlow today charged that many of Boston's liquor places are operated by ex-bootleggers and ex-convicts.

"Why is it that so many of our liquor stores, cafes, saloons and taverns are in the hands of men who have police records?" he asked.

"They have been entrusted with an industry which should be pursued with circumspection."

Backing up the judge's charge is the recent revelation that three Boston men arrested in a holdup some months ago, are owners of bars or cafes—one in Somerville, one in Boston and the third in Laconia, N. H.

SHOULD LIMIT LICENSES

"Serious is the failure of our lawmakers to place a reasonable limit on the number of licenses which might be issued," Judge Adlow declared.

"Now we have the legalized cafe, where for the first time women are permitted to sit at bars and drink with men.

"The modern day cafe or saloon has more sinister implications than the pre-prohibition tavern. It has brought the streetwalker indoors where she can ply her trade in an atmosphere of revelry.

"Because of the housing shortage with its acute crowding of younger families, the tendency to resort to public places, particularly cafes or saloons, is greater than ever.

"It is unfortunate that the multitude of episodes occurring in saloons are rarely reported, but the judges of our courts can testify to the many larcenies, assaults, indecencies and serious crimes occurring in saloons.

REGULATED BY AUTHORITIES

"These are public drinking places which ostensibly operate under licenses and are supposed to be regulated and supervised by public authorities.

"An amazing phenomenon of our courtrooms is the large number of bartenders arrested for drunkenness. These are the men supposed to serve liquor only to people able to take care of themselves.

"It is important that our public authorities pay attention to the clergy and civic leaders who recognize the menace to the public from the excessive number of drinking establishments that exist.

"It is equally important that the police and licensing boards enforce the law more strictly and do something more than slap the owner on the wrist with a one-day suspension when his cafe or saloon has been found infringing on the law."

Pauley

market transactions as far as he knew.

Pauley listed as follows his commodity holdings when he took the Army post Sept. 3:

Corn, 200,000 bushels; oats, 300,000 bushels; cotton seed oil, 300,000 pounds; lard, 500,000 pounds; hides, 43 "contracts." He said the total outlay amounted to less than a million dollars.

IN EMPLOYES' NAME

He explained that he had anticipated the 50,000 bushels of wheat would be purchased in the name of his employe after he became Royall's special aide.

His admission of the wheat purchase came when Ferguson asked if he bought the grain as a trustee. Pauley replied:

"I give my employes a bonus and I did allow them to purchase in my name 50,000 bushels of wheat."

He said this was sometime last September—after he accepted employment with the Army.

Bridge announced as the hearing into Pauley's grain investments got under way Congress had information pertaining to "some prominent individuals close to government officials."

DENIES ANDERSON PRESENT

Bridges said these persons have posed as great humanitarians and declared that by their speculation in the food market they are "sticking knives into the hearts of the hungry peoples of the world."

Pauley denied that he had discussed his market dealings with Sec. Anderson when they both were together in Hawaii last summer.

Ferguson asked if he had placed a telephone order for grain in Anderson's presence at that time.

He replied:

"I did not."

Ferguson pointed out that last Oct. 9 Anderson in a public statement asserted that he could call names of persons—including some public figures who were speculating in grains.

The Senator asked if Pauley knew that Anderson, Atty. Gen. Clark, and Commerce Sec. Harriman had "all the names of persons who had purchased 200,000 bushels of wheat or more?"

EXPLAINS ARMY JOB

Pauley said he knew the Commodity Credit Authorities had records of such purchases and said he presumed Anderson had access to it.

Pauley explained his market operations this way:

"I dealt in everything I felt my business judgment would make a profit on in what I considered the good American way."

He said his Army job consisted of industrial mobilization and procurement, but that the latter was on a policy rather than a purchasing level.

16 Survive 75 P.C. Calory-Cut Diet

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—A nutrition expert says a person can survive without too great discomfort on a diet containing only about one-fourth of what is considered the normal number of calories.

Sixteen men consumed only 900 calories of food apiece for 40 days — and still were strong enough to play ping pong and cheerful enough not to talk about beefsteaks perpetually, Dr. David Schwimmer of the New York Medical College reported yesterday.

Four times a day for 40 days, the men were fed small biscuits containing 25 per cent egg protein, 30 per cent fat and 45 per cent starch or carbohydrate. They drank only three glasses of water apiece each day.

Dr. Schwimmer told a symposium sponsored by Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons the experiment showed the weight and caloric content of a diet are less important than its fat, protein and starch components.

Malden Man Honored As Hero of Year

John A. Brescia, 36, of Pearl st., Malden, who rescued a young Malden mother and her 7-day-old baby from flames in their home Feb. 13, was cited by the Massachusetts Humane Society today and presented a $50 check as the State's outstanding hero of 1947.

John A. Brescia

Brescia suffered such severe burns on his lft wrist he could not work for two months at his job as a compositor with the Malden News.

He saved from death Mrs. Helen Boyd, 26, of Charles st. and her tiny daughter, Carolyn Ann, who were trapped in the second floor apartment. Brescia groped his way up the stairs before firemen arrived and held the baby out of the window, to save it from smothering in the smoke, until firemen raised a ladder and took the child.

Then he descended the ladder with the mother clinging to his back. For a time after the rescue it was feared he would lose the use of his left hand and wrist due to third degree burns.

Lip Balm Prevents Chapping, Cracking

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

LET 'EM BLOW, let 'em blow . . . those wintry blasts that are harder on sensitive lips than almost any other part of the body. But be prepared! For when they do blow . . . do you find yourself with chapped, split lips . . . very often more painful than a burn . . . because inadvertently your moving tongue licked your lips and exposed them to winter's bite?

You can't talk, you can't eat without a twinge of hurt punctuating the act. Of course you get over it . . . everybody does who suffers this way . . . but why subject yourself to a repeat performance of challenging chapped lips once you've experienced the inconvenience and discomfort. Neither men, women nor children are exempt from this threat.

CHAP STICK HABIT

When a fine lip reparative was government issue for service men and women stationed in the freezing north or the torrid tropics . . . hundreds of thousands of Uncle Sam's uniformed girls and boys acquired the chap stick habit . . . a protective against extremes in temperatures and a safeguard for lip smoothness and softness.

No bigger than a lipstick, an anti-chap stick is as convenient to carry in a woman's purse . . . as in a man's pocket. Colorless, medicated . . . and the only lip balm containing an antiseptic ingredient . . . this lip protective is a desirable for both male and female. Women can use it right over their regular lipstick . . . without disturbing the color . . . thereby not only adding to its sheen but assuring the softness and smoothness of lips which need coloring for beauty.

Of course it can be used every day or night of your life. Men use it "as is" since it protects their lips without being visible. With such unseen medication on the lips . . . they will never get dry or crack . . . never know a cold sore or fever blister.

SOOTHES AND HEALS

There are times when the lips are without coverage . . . women do eat their lipstick off their mouth, you know . . . and then the winter blasts get their innings in.

Whenever the lips get reactionary . . . when their smoothness is invalidated by cold . . . give them a few applications of this lip balm to help soothe and heal them so they'll be quickly restored to beauty receptiveness.

For the name of this lip balm, protection against chapped, cracked and split lips, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 2-4000, any day except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Don't Argue On Love

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am a high school girl who is in love with a boy two years my senior. I met him a few months ago. I know I love him, but he always seems to doubt me, and this causes arguments between us. He always acts as if I were giving him a line, but I really do love him and want him to believe me.

Could it be that he is afraid I will leave him for someone else? Why doesn't he have faith in me and how can I make him believe I love him? "E. L. K."

Dear "E. L. K.":

It seems to me you are taking your relationship with this boy much more seriously than is sensible. Arguments between high school boys and girls, about whether or not one loves the other, may be exciting for them, but they are foolish.

I think you two will have a much happier relationship, and a lot more fun, if you will just accept each other's friendship, enjoy doing things together, and let it go at that.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am 18 and have been dated a number of times by a fellow who recently asked me to attend his graduation banquet. But last week we had a dispute. He was sarcastic and I made a harsh remark. I realized my error and apologized humbly, but he refused to accept my apology.

If he should call me a day or two before the banquet, as I feel he will, should I decline? I no longer have the same interest I had in him and I feel as though things would not be the same as before. "L. E."

DEAR "L. E.":

If this boy gives evidence that he wants to have you keep your date with him by calling you up to remind you of it, it seems to me it would be sensible to let bygones be gygones and take up where you left off, without bothering to rehash your dispute.

Of course if you have lost your interest in him so much that you do not care about having any more to do with him, then the best way to let him know this would obviously be to tell him you don't care to go to the banquet with him. In that case, tell him so in a nice way, and don't let him think you are going to harbor a grudge. That would be silly.

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

THE NEW style hair cut . . . bangs very short and curled under slightly to match her short page-boy . . . adds even greater beauty to Eleanor Parker, whose mouth is pretty provocative in its own right. Can you picture charming Eleanor if her lips . . . artistically perfect . . . were chapped or split? It would be kind of messy, wouldn't it?

Why Not Serve Fish Pie?

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

FISH AND SEAFOOD can be tastily prepared in a variety of ways other than broiling, baking, frying and steaming. There are newburgs, thermidors, souffles and fish custards, to name just a few.

A combination of shrimp and a mild flavored fish such as sole or white fish is delicious combined in a well-seasoned cream sauce to which vegetables may be added if desired. Pour the mixture into a casserole and top with biscuits or pastry. And to add a touch of the professional, cut the pastry or biscuit dough in the shape of a fish—make a paper pattern and cut around it with a sharp knife.

Any combination of fish or seafood may be used in this recipe and canned shrimp are very satisfactory.

FISH PIE

1 lb. fresh shrimp
1 cup boiling water
Onion, size of walnut
½ branch celery
1 lb. filet of sole
¼ cup butter or margarine
⅛ cup celery, sliced thin
1 tbsp. finely chopped onion
¼ cup sliced, stuffed olives
2½ cups milk
Biscuit dough for top
½ tsp. salt
1-3 cup flour
1 tsp. salt

Shuck shrimp and remove intestinal vein. Rinse quickly in cold water, drain well. Add ½ teaspoon salt, celery seed, onion, and branch of celery and simmer for 5 minutes. Cool shrimp in liquid and drain just before using. Remove skin from fish, cut into 1½-inch pieces. Cook sliced celery and onion in melted butter or margarine until soft but not brown. Add flour, then milk gradually stirring constantly until mixture bubbles and thickens. Add olives, salt, drain shrimp split in halves lengthwise, and fish. Pour into a six-cup casserole. Top with biscuit dough rolled ¾ inch thick, cut in the shape of a fish. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in moderate oven (350 deg. F.). Serve with additional biscuits, if desired. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

FISH SOUFFLE

1 small onion
2½ tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. flour
1¾ cups flaked, cooked halibut
3 eggs, separated
Cream Caper Sauce
2 tbsp. fine bread crumbs
1½ cups milk
Dash of pepper
½ tsp. salt

Peel and quarter onion and simmer 5 minutes in milk; remove onion. Melt 2 tbsp. butter in saucepan, blend in flour, add milk gradually and cook 5 minutes, or until mixture is thick and smooth, stirring constantly; season with salt and pepper. Remove from heat, add fish and blend. Stir in well-beaten egg yolks, then fold in stiffly beaten whites. Turn into greased casserole, cover with bread crumbs and dot with remaining butter. Bake about 1 hour in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.). Serve with caper sauce. Makes 6 servings.

CREAM CAPER SAUCE

2 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. flour
1 cup milk
½ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. salt
2 to 4 tbsp. chopped capers

Melt butter or margarine and stir in flour; gradually stir in milk, and stir until mixture boils and thickens, then cook about 3 minutes longer, stirring occasionally; add seasonings. This sauce may be served with baked or boiled fish, meat loaves, croquettes, etc. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

Make Welcome Little Christmas Presents

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

FASHION has lots of little sidelights; their sparkle adds luster to fashion especially now before Christmas when everyone is searching for just the right presents to give to special friends.

These sidelights are often the little luxuries that women just don't buy for themselves, but love to receive as presents. But they are not all in the luxury class. Some are small conveniences, small in price, too; these reflect the thoughtfulness of the giver.

Two lovely-to-receive presents are sketched today. Both are from the Evans Case Co. No. 1 is a hand-size (6 in. by 3 in.) combination compact and cigaret case. This little gold-plated box opens to reveal a lipstick, powder puff, comb, compact and mirror. Underneath is the cigaret case. No. 2 is a black suede fitted handbag. It has a gold frame and gold loops through which the handles slip. The bag is fitted with a compact, cigaret case and lighter, a purse and a lipstick.

ANN O'DAY
Makes Debut on Dec. 19

THE MOVIE chosen for a command performance attended by the royal family at the time of Princess Elizabeth's wedding, was presented at an invitation preview at the Astor Theater here yesterday morning. It is "The Bishop's Wife," an enchanting screen play to open Christmas Day.

The invitation audience included Mrs. Benjamin Thorndike of Dedham with Miss Carol Whiting, Mrs. Walter Austin and daughter, Dorothy, Mrs. Kirkland Gibson with Mrs. E. Winslow Ware and Mrs. Ramsdell Harwood, whose guests were Mrs. Marshall Hamill and Mrs. Harold Russell of Cambridge, wife of the handless veteran who played in "Best Years of Our Lives."

Others coming in out of the snow were Mrs. Andrew N. Winslow, Jr., with her sister, Miss Louise Condit, Mrs. Walter Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Baker, Mrs. Rosamond Shearer, Mrs. Francis Marsh 2d, Mrs. G. Langdon Ward, Mrs. Thomas Burchard and Miss Faith Stanwood.

THE HASTY PUDDING SHOW has the kind of catchy tunes that the audience sings on the way home and pretty soon the dance bands will be playing the three best ones which are being published today. Courtney Crandall of Arlington and Bill Scudder of Dedham are responsible for the music and Craig Gilbert of New York the clever plot.

Bill Scudder's tricky lyrics were particularly enjoyed by his family opening night. His dad, Winthrop Scudder, attended with his sisters, Mrs. Peter Covell and Mrs. Gordon McKissock, with their husbands, Mrs. Barbara McKissock and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooks, Jr., Bill's uncle and aunt. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hatch were with their Wayland neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Russell, Jr., and also in the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whiteside of Medfield and Mrs. Dudley L. Pickman of Boston.

DECKING THE HOUSE with holly and fragrant greens is always fun the week before Christmas and homemakers can find a variety of distinctive trimmings at the annual Greens Sale sponsored by the New England Farm and Garden Ass'n. The sale will be at Horticultural Hall Dec. 18 and 19 with Oregon holly and blue cedar berries, wreaths made by farm women, magnolia, pine boughs, cones and kindling.

Mrs. John H. Cunningham and Mrs. James D. Colt, co-chairmen have a large committee helping them with the event that aids in the association's work of providing a market for the products of rural New England women.

Among the many workers will be Mrs. Hubert L. Carter, Mrs. W. Lloyd Aycock, Mrs. Edward J. Brown, Mrs. William Ellery, Mrs. Joe W. Gerrity, Mrs. Charles H Pettit, Mrs. Harry S. Mittendorf, Mrs. H. Bigelow Emerson, Mrs. Charles Thayer, Mrs. William King, Mrs. Walter M. Pratt, Mrs. Charles Cobb and Mrs. Hamilton P. Edwards.

School Heads Study Lack Of Parent-Teacher Groups

The Boston School Committee today was studying a program to interest more patients in the welfare of their children following disclosure that only 85 of the city's 200 schools have parent-teacher committees.

In addition, Sheila Findlay of Greenough ave., Jamaica Plain, president of the Parents Federation of Greater Boston, told members of the school committee that some of the 85 existing parent-teacher groups are unworthy of the name.

RARE BIBLE BURNED

DAMASCUS, Syria, Dec. 12 (AP)—Mobs in an orgy of destruction put the torch to a 2750-year-old synagogue in the Jewish quarter of Aleppo, ruining a library which included a priceless ancient Bible.

Mobs set fire to more than 150 houses, 50 shops, 10 synagogues, an orphanage, a youth club and a restaurant in the Jewish community.

Aleppo's governor, Emir Mustapha Shehabi, told the Home Ministry in a report that the Bible was one of the rarest relics of Holy Land antiquity.

PLAY BY SUFFOLK CAST

"Fashion," a five-act comedy by Anna Cora Mowatt, will be presented as the season's first production by the Dramatic Workshop of Suffolk University next Wednesday and Thursday nights at 8:30, in the university auditorium, 20 Derne st. George D. Kirwin is the workshop's coach and faculty adviser.

BAKER PLAY HERE SOON

Josephine Baker, who earned the Free French Government's highest award for her work with the French Underground in Algiers, and Jo Bouillon are teamed in "Paris Sings Again," Aaron H. Payne's Continental revue, which opens a three and a half week engagement at the Majestic on Christmas night.

Scottish Drama on Met Screen

An appealing homespun drama of Scottish sheepherders and their wonderful trained dogs and a spotty, occasionally amusing yarn that hippity-hops from bedroom farce to comedy-mystery to at-and-out slapstick are presentpartnered on the Met screen.

"Thunder in the Valley," 20th Century-Fox productia based on Alfred Ollivant's novel "Bob, Son of Battle," is beautifully photographed in Technicolor, rich in human values and otherwise distinguished by Edmun Gwenn's memorable sheepherde

Lon McCallister pays sheepherder Gwenn's festive, ill-treated son who runsaway and goes to live on the neighboring farm of Reginald Own, owner of Bob, Son of Batth It isn't long before Lon and Owen's daughter (Peggy Ann Garner) fall in love.

Older children and the family adults should find the work of the two dogs, Gwenn's champion Red Wull and Bob, who eventually wins the cup from Red Wull in the local championship field trials, enormously interesting.

The George Brent-Virginia Mayo co-starrer for Eagle-Lion, "Out of the Blue," represents some fairly out of the blue casting that discovers Brent as a henpecked milquetoast, Ann Dvorak, as an accomplished comedienne.

Sam Goldwyn Sings Praises Of Boston on Visit Here

By PEGGY DOYLE

Sam Goldwyn, whose boast it is that "in 35 years of film-making I've never made a picture to bring a blush to a movie-goer's cheek," yesterday had Old Dame Boston fuchsia-colored with his I-love-Boston praises.

At a luncheon in his honor in the Ritz-Carlton's French Room, he talked like a love-letter about the city. He declared his yardstick in the choice of a story is its power to entertain. He asserted that "State Fair" and his own "The Best Years of Our Lives," which captured nine Academy Awards, are "great pictures as propaganda because they are not propaganda pictures."

GOT START IN BOSTON

"I really love Boston," said Mr. Goldwyn, after an amusing exchange of pleasantries with Mayor Curley, "because it is one of the great cities of the world. It is a city of culture and tradition."

A particular reason for the film producer's ardent feeling about Boston, he revealed, is that it was in this city he started . . . after arriving in this country via steerage as a lad of 11. He returns to it as one of the industry's foremost leaders, independent producer of some of Hollywood's greatest film masterpieces.

He left here to sell gloves in "the toughest territory . . . Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont . . . where they had sold the same brand of gloves for the past 100 years." It was some time later that he came back to Boston to present his first important picture in Symphony Hall, the Geraldine Farrar-starring "Carmen," which drew a front-page review in the late Boston Transcript.

His next visit involved his attendance at the opening premiere of Ziegfeld's "Bitter Sweet," which started lovely Evelyn Laye.

"This time," he stated pridefully, "I came to Boston to see for the first time a theater I bought an interest in because Boston should have a theater of its own where fine pictures can stay as long as its citizens wish to see them."

MUST BE ENTERTAINED

The theater is the 1365-seat Astor, in which the Samuel Goldwyn Productions has purchased a reported third interest from Don Jacocks, of the B. & Q. Circuit. "The Bishop's Wife," newest Goldwyn production, was previewed for the press at the Astor yesterday and is scheduled to open there on Christmas Day.

"Any great love story" is the producer's answer to what makes the best movie material. There are so many problems in the world today, he says, that people must be entertained when they go to the theater. In his many years of film-making he has never had a picture censored.

Recalling a story told to him by General Marshall concerning the profound impression made on China's leading Communist by "State Fair," he repeated the latter's puzzled query, "Is that the way a farmer lives in America?"

That picture and "Best Years?" he said, "show how democracy operates and are great pictures as propaganda. I don't believe in showing gangster pictures, salacious pictures aboard."

On the subject of Washington's recent inquiry into the alleged Communist penetration of the film industry, Mr. Goldwyn went on record as strongly in favor of investigation but diametrically opposed to Rep. Thomas' un-American "persecution."

As to "Best Years" being Communistic, as charged, the Hollywood producer says if this be Communism "I'm going to continue to make them."

Dorsey Music Still Popular

Hot and loud but always listenable, Tommy Dorsey's band elicited from yesterday's opening-show audience at the RKO Boston a performer's favorite music . . . unstinted applause.

From the first note of the curtain-raising "Opus One," the outfit was "in." The succeeding number, "Trombology" featuring Headman Dorsey doing his own tromboning, won an ovation. From then on the show couldn't miss with a house that had tabbed it strictly on the beam.

Ziggy Elman, rated by many as the star-spangled trumpet-player of them all, registered solidly with "And the Angels Sing."

The Town Criers, a quartet of good-appearing boys and girls, clicked with "Sunnyside of the Street" and "By the Sea." Town Crier Gordon Polk scored his original comedy delivery with the tunes, "I Met My Baby at Macy's" and "The Whistler's Call."

Stuart Foster, the band's featured vocalist, unleashed a powerful baritone with "Almost Like Falling in Love" and that other durable oldie, "Old Man River."

Another old familiar of vaudeville, Professor Backwards, is here again this week convulsing the customers with his too-well-known - to - warrant - description wares.

Comedy blended with hair-breadth acrobatics, as offered by the Emerald Sisters, rounded out the individual acts on the bill.

The show closed with a production number which assembled the entire cast on stage and in good voice, the while the band played a combination of the tunes, "Old Chaperone" and "Freedom Train."

"Philo Vance's Secret," with Alan Curtis and Sheila Ryan, is the companion film fare, but the "live" show is the good news currently at the RKO Boston.

UN Group Asked to Aid 72 Waiting Trial Verdict

SALONIKA, Greece, Dec. 12 (AP)—The new UN committee on the Balkans got an appeal from relatives today for intervention on behalf of 72 persons now awaiting a court martial verdict on charges of plotting a Communist uprising here.

Five of the defendants, all on trial for their lives since Nov. 26, are women in their twenties.

Something From The Past; Jake And John's Saga

By AUSTEN LAKE

I BOUGHT THE OLD BOOK for a quarter while mousing around the back slopes of Beacon Hill where the literary scavengers collect castoff tomes and set them out in mouldering heaps to trap wandering bibliophiles.

The yellowing fly leaf said it was "the first accurate anthology of the Sampson of the prize ring, John Lawrence Sullivan—the life and adventures of the world's most mighty man as described by an eye-witness who prefers to remain anonymous."

It was dingy and dog-eared, published in 1890, when Sullivan still ruled the fistic roost, full of grotesque woodcuts and authored in the tone of a grammar school history of the Civil War. But there was a faithful account of the Sullivan-Kilrain fight, which has stood through the years as a primitive legend of the utmost in ring fury. So I paid a silver coin to its keeper, a dusty old gnome whose knowing leer seemed to speak the wisdom of the ages.

I DID THIS BECAUSE I had visited old Jake Kilrain shortly before his death in an ivy-shawled Quincy cottage and tried vainly to wheedle something from his memories. He was nearing 80 then, a huge man in the latter stages of physical sag, and with a faraway light in his eye as one who peered dimly down the hallways of time.

Old Jake had sat among his souvenirs like an ancient hen hatching an old secret. There were faded pictures on his walls of solid men in hard hats, corkscrew whiskers and with watch-dog chains across their vests—men with anvil jaws, bold eyes and an air of challenge. And old Jake had talked resentfully, as though loath to leave his broodings and said maybe there had been 25,000 at the titantic battle at Richfield on July 8, 1889, and that each round had been a gory agony of bare knuckle slugging.

And presently he turned down his mental light again and went back through the corridors of his thoughts. And I had left him, fumbling with his bony fists on which were freckles large as pennies. Now passing time has a way of gilding old commonplaces, so that a legend grows more golden with the years. For the book says that there were only 3000 present as Jake tossed his "castor" into the ring and vaulted the ropes.

The tale tells that Sullivan, above his green fighting drawers, was "fat, with a bosom almost flabby, but only with a suspicion of a corporation where lately there had been a capacious paunch." And it says, too, that Kilrain, looking trim and lean, wore a four-days' growth of beard that gave him an unkempt appearance and "lent a savage, bristling aspect to his visage."

What followed in the language of our barbaric Boswell was a combination of flying tackles, scalp snatching, gougings and alley brawling that was accepted ring technique in that primitive time. Thus in round one our historian tells, "Sullivan swung his left with Kilrain slipping under and catching John about his neck and twirling him over his hip so that Jake fell on top with a shocking bump."

IN ROUND TWO SULLIVAN sledged Kilrain at the base of his brain before seizing Jake around his middle and delivering "a bursting fall so that his head struck the turf a full 18 inches before his heels." Then John L. "bellied down on Jake," lying across his chest and swivelling his elbows into his groin, till the seconds pried them apart.

Sullivan, says the record, was "a talking fighter who struck dramatic attitudes and taunted Jake with invitations. 'Stand in man and try your luck,' or 'It's try my patience you are.'" But there was nothing in the manuscript to show that Jake opened his thin lips in retort. So the chronicle states that Sullivan was "stricken with sudden stomach convulsions in the 44th round, so that he leaned over the ropes and retched and heaved." John's followers shuddered and Kilrain "weak though he was, demanded, 'Will you draw the fight, John?'" to which the champion, stifling his spasms replied, "'No. I'll beat you to a bloody pulp,' and striking an elegant pose he went back to the fray with both fists."

Then alas, dirty work reared its ugly horns in the 45th and our tale teller relates "Sullivan, I grieve to say, committed a very obvious foul. After gammoning Kilrain with his right, he clinched and went down on top of him, jumping on the fallen man's head with both knees amid cries of 'shame! shame' from Kilrain's corner."

And so, bathed in their "own essences, blood and sweat" the battle went to the 75th round when "Sullivan, for all his paunchy look, battered the challenger as he pleased. So that Jake, dazed and only half conscious, was unable to toe the scratch for the 76th and the fight ended with Mike Donovan tossing in the sponge and Sullivan helping to carry his near dead rival to some shade trees."

Now the two old warriors lie a few miles apart, Jake in St. Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy, and John in Mt. Calvary, hard by Forest Hills. The 3000 who peered at them at Richfield 58 years ago are gone or become toothless elders. The ancient scene is a misty shadow now and the only souvenir of the legendary battle is in such documents found among the literary rubbish by a forgotten author.

Skater Dorothy Glazier Snubs Olympic Fathers

A Children's Hospital nurse with trophies galore as a champion skater was disclosed today to have given the American Olympic committee a snub as stiff as that august body has received in many a year. She advised the committee (with plenty of ice in her message) she would not accept its invitation to compete in the figure skating tryouts at Chiago beginning tomorrow.

DOROTHY GLAZIER
Turns Down Olympic Bid

The snubber was Miss Dorothy Glazier of Brookline, Choate School, Radcliffe and the usual rest, now on the Children's Hospital staff.

The Olympic committee had assigned three figure skating places, but one of the girls chosen, Janet Ahrens of St. Paul, Minn., got married and gave up the idea. Gretchen Merrill of Boston was No. 1 choice.

Miss Glazier, who had won the Eastern and New England championships, and is a former National Junior Pairs champ, allowed as how she would like to compete for the vacancy.

The Olympic committee wrote her it wanted only competitors who stood a chance of winning and it was sorry but it didn't think she stood a chance.

This created such indignation at the Boston Skating Club, which has had to buy a lot of trophies for award to Miss Glazier, that Charles M. Rotch, president, and M. Bernard Fox, an old skating great, got off an indignant protest to the Olympic committee.

The committee began looking up records, changed its mind and wired her to the effect it was all a mistake.

Miss Glazier's reply was ladylike but economically worded for telegraph rates. She thanked the committee for changing its mind but said she had changed hers, too.

Name 'All' School Team

By BOB WALDO

What represents the best all-around performers in Eastern Massachusetts high school football ranks for the 1947 campaign as selected by the Boston Evening American's Board of Coaches will be published in all editions of this newspaper tomorrow, as the "Official" All-Scholastic team of this year.

As in the past, this team is studded with stars who have carried their schools to glory throughout this past semester. Not only have the various class titlists placed members on this dream team, but players who distinguished themselves while in defeat.

It is a tip of the old chapeau to Eastern Massachusetts, for these are the boys who will go on to college and prove that this section of the country turns out as fine a football player as any. Through this channel, it is hoped that some of these lads, who otherwise may find it impossible, might gain entrance to college, via an athletic scholarship, to further their education.

Long hours of heated discussions were put in by the 10 leading coaches that comprise the "All" board. It is their honest opinion that they have taken into consideration all outstanding candidates, and that they have picked the cream.

Not only will the members of the team receive jackets, annually awarded by James W. Brine sporting goods company, but each will be given a gold engraved football in recognition of their accomplishments.

Sometime early in January, the "All" team will be tendered a banquet at which they will be formally introduced to the coaches that selected them for this honor. Here they will be presented with their gold footballs and jackets, as well as be entertained by some of the leader sports figures in the country.

The team will be made public for the first time in tomorrow's Boston American with pictures and a detailed story of the team. Do not fail to get your copy, as this is the "official" All-Scholastic team of the year.

Yanks Unplaced On All-Pro Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Six players from the National League and five from the All-America Conference have been selected on the Associated Press 1947 All-Pro football team announced today.

The backfield consists of Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears, Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns, Steve Van Buren of the Philadelphia Eagles and Orban (Speck) Sanders of the New York Yankees.

The line includes four players from the National League which is completing its 26th season and three from the Conference, now winding up its second campaign.

Sammy Baugh, the great Washington Redskin, had to be content with a place on the second team.

No Boston Yank made either the first or second team, but Don Currivan, end, and Boley Dancewicz, back, received honorable mention.

Production Cost Of Ice Capades Hits $626,000

By JACK CONWAY

WALTER BROWN revealed to me it cost $626,000 to place the Ice Capades before the public this season.

"I am speaking only of production costs," declared the president of the Boston Garden who is one of the controlling powers in the Ice Capades.

"There is then the matter of $70,000 a week for payrolls and traveling expenses."

I asked Brown what the cost was to open the show back in 1940 when it was first started.

Edythe Walley
Nate Walley

"It was only $47,000," he replied. "Our payroll was only $3000 a week, while our traveling expense for the entire season was $20,000. In those days we had only 40 persons in the show. We now have 150. Expenses all along the line have mounted."

Asked how the Ice Capades have been drawing, Brown asserted they sold out in Chicago, Pittsburgh, Springfield, Toronto and Montreal, while they did not do so well in Ottawa or Cleveland.

"The show hit Cleveland during a hot spell in October and business was away off," asserted Brown. "The Ice Follies report their business was down in New York, and other ice shows will also probably experience a falling off in attendance in New York. There is no city in the United States to boom like New York does in good times, and fall off in the show business when there is a tightening of money.

"We already have $50,000 in the box office for the Boston show, and this leads me to believe we shall do capacity business."

Brown Praises Ring Career of Joe Louis

BROWN is of the opinion that the controversy over the Louis-Walcott bout will help boxing everywhere.

"That the public has a burning interest in boxing is proved by all the controversy there has been over the decision that enabled Joe Louis to retain his title in his tussle with Joe Walcott," he said.

"Boxing bouts in Boston will benefit from all this. If we can develop a few good local boxers, the ring game will pick up here.

"I thought Louis once more proved his honesty and simplicity when after the Walcott bout he said: 'I was only a second rate fighter.'

"I have the greatest admiration for Joe Louis. During the war, I had charge of Joe for the Army during his New England tours, and he never once made a wrong move. He was always humble and eager to help in any way possible.

"I remember a day at Ft. Devens when Louis was introduced to a large group of troops.

"'You'll kill Billy Conn next time,' yelled one of the soldiers.

"'Conn is a good fighter, and he gave me a hard battle in our last meeting," replied Louis simply.

"One could hear a pin drop as Louis talked to the troops. Joe made a great impression."

Insisted Brown Accompany Him to Devens

ON ONE of his unofficial visits to New England when he was acting as a referee at Paul Bowser wrestling shows, Louis was asked by a general to make a special visit to Camp Devens. Louis could not be ordered to make the trip as he was on furlough, but when asked to do so by the then Col. Walter Brown he readily consented.

The general in charge of the trip made auto arrangements which did not include Col. Brown.

"I am not going to Ft. Devens unless Col. Brown goes," asserted Louis who had remained silent until this point.

"There is only one seat left in the auto and that is for you," asserted the general.

Louis refused to accept the seat. On the suggestion of Col. Brown, Louis made the trip with him to Ft. Devens in a jeep.

Probe Reveals Pro Players Bet on Games

HONOLULU, Dec. 12 (AP)—An investigation of reported gambling in the Pacific Coast Professional Football League was being conducted today by league officials. The investigation is prompted by an announcement by Detective Capt. Eugene Kennedy that "several players" on the Hawaiian Warriors admitted betting on themselves to win. Kennedy said charges would be filed under a territorial statute making it a misdemeanor to wager on an athletic contest.

Kennedy said no bribery was involved.

The Warriors won the Pacific Coast League championship Sunday by defeating the Los Angeles Bulldogs, 7 to 6. An exhibition game scheduled for next Sunday was called off when the Warriors' board of directors received reports that some squad members were gambling on games.

The team's general manager, Francis J. Brickner, said all of them denied placing bets on any opposing team. He emphasized that players of the Los Angeles Bulldogs were not involved in any way.

Brickner said the case probably will have to be reviewed by a National Professional League commissioner, because the Pacific Coast League operates under the stringent rules of that organization. The national rules were tightened after a bribery-attempt scandal in New York a year ago, on the eve of the title game between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears.

The National League players, Merle Hapes and Frank Filchock, were suspended indefinitely by Comr. Bert Bell, who found them guilty "of actions detrimental to the welfare" of the league and professional football. This was an outgrowth of an attempt by Alvin Paris to fix the game.

Leahy Places Four Trojans On 'Foe' Team

By FRANK LEAHY
Head Coach, Notre Dame University

Our lads faced many an outstanding player this past season. We doubt that ever before was there finer talent distributed all around. Given the pick of the talent faced by Notre Dame, we'd be happy to engage almost any aggregation of players.

If we could wave a magic wand and bring these stars together, here's how they would line up:

Center, Tom Novak, Nebraska.

Ends, Ned Maloney, Purdue; Paul Cleary, So. California.

Tackles, John Ferraro, So. California; Goble Bryant, Army.

Guards, Phil O'Reilly, Purdue; Shim Shimshack, Navy.

Quarterback, George Murphy, So. California.

Right halfback, Tom Aschenbrenner, Northwestern.

Fullback, Rip Rowan, Army.

What a team this would make! How we would fear to face them. Individually they glitter; as a team they could hardly be less than devastating. Consider having Murphy, Aschenbrenner, Doll and Rowan running behind such a forewall.

With Murphy directing and riffing those target-splitting passes for which he is so well known, you wouldn't know which way to turn in setting up a defense against such power.

Stop their running attack and they would pass you dizzy. Set your defense to smother the passes and they would run around and through you.

Cleary is one of the finest ends we have seen this season or any other. He is discouragingly staunch on defense and a brilliant pass receiver. Furthermore, his presence on the field does much to lift the spirits of his mates.

Our lads said O'Reilly was as great a lineman as they had ever faced. He was all of that. Novak and the rest of our dream line would hold their own in any company. You'll hear of these boys later if they turn pro, and we'll see more than we wish of those of them with more time to play in college.

Of course, it should be understood that this selection is purely a personal one. Fans will agree and disagree with it around the Hot Stove League, but it should make for good conversational material.

We'll pick our All-America in the next article.

Greater Hub Boys Give Shoe Bowl Local Flavor

By SAM BROGNA

Although two out-of-state prep schools inaugurate the first annual Shoe Bowl game Sunday afternoon at Mannin Bowl, Lynn, the contest has a plethora of local interest not only for Greater Boston fans but for the entire Eastern seaboard.

Not much is known of Bullis Prep of Silver Springs, Md., but of the 27-man squad that makes up the personnel of Marianapolis, 16 are former high school grid players that got their start here in Greater Boston. And of this group, two are from Boston proper, having graduated from local schools.

The other players, with the exception of three, are from the New England area including Nashua, N. H., and Providence, R. I.

In past years, Marianapolis has been the jumping stone for many Greater Boston schoolboys who went on to star on the college gridiron. During the early '40's, a team of this comparatively unknown school, loaded with local talent, invaded these parts and handed one of Boston College's best freshmen teams a resounding defeat.

Some of the young men on that team had familiar names—John Tobin, John Yonakor, Jerry Cowhig, Higgins, Bob Mangene, John Furey, George Boothby and Walter Trojanowski. The first four mentioned went on to Notre Dame; Mangene and Furey went to Boston College; Boothby to Brown and Trojanowski became the leading scorer of the nation several years ago at the U. of Ct.

Two gridmen who performed on the local gridiron not long ago and now with the Knights are Andy Mantineo and Ed O'Donnell. Andy, a qb, gained All-Boston honors last year at Roslindale High, and Ed, a fb, played three years at Boston English.

Among the Greater Boston fellows are Tommy Sheehan, Dan Sharp, Charlie Babcock, and Bill Morrissey, Saugus; Mike LaRocco, Weymouth; George Maloney and Ernie Donahue, Somerville High; Paul Spillane and Greg Fulgione, Rindge Tech; Mickey Bishop, Stoughton; Don DiMott, Everett; Henry Shinoski, Lynn and Mark Mullaley, Melrose.

Coach Vincent Wassell, in his first year at the helm of the Thompson, Ct., school, is well pleased with his first edition that went through a fairly tough seven-game schedule unbeaten and untied.

In racking up these triumphs, his club scored 195 points to the opponents' 45. Two games were shutouts and in three other contests, the opposition scored but once.

It is truly remarkable how a school with an enrollment of only 100 boys, can turn out such a remarkable grid record against the high calibre of opposition. That's just how many boys make up this prep school conducted by the Marian Fathers, and one-third of these play football.

MAJORS GOING TO COAST EVENTUALLY

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—"The expansion of major league baseball to other territories is a virtual certainty during our lifetime," a high major league official prophesied today.

That prediction took some of the ache out of the hearts of the members of the Pacific Coast League delegation who started their long journey back home with the sad news that once again their request for major league recognition had been rejected by the major leagues.

The rejection came in the form of a resolution that gave promise of better things to come.

In a carefully worded statement by Walter Mulbry, secretary to Commissioner A. B. Chandler, the majors said they recognized the probability of eventual expansion but that there appeared no minor league which was entitled to such classification at present.

Minelli in Hub Bow vs. Odom At Mechanics

By RINGSIDE

Livio Minelli, welterweight champion of Italy who has won 103 bouts in a row, will make his Boston ring bow tonight when he collides with Willie Odom of Chicago in a 10-round bout at a Jimmy Mede Dempsey A. A. show at Mechanics Building.

Minelli's most important victory in this country was scored over Bob Montgomery, former world's lightweight champion, in Philadelphia, at a show that drew $20,000. There had been some doubts expressed in regard to Minelli's combative qualities until he collided with Montgomery, a seasoned ring performer who won his championship from Beau Jack.

Minelli displayed the same aggressiveness and punching power against Montgomery he had shown in minor bouts, and he hammered out a clear cut decision.

Odom does not rate with Montgomery, but he says he will make Minelli extend himself to win. It will be the second meeting between these boxers. In their previous tussle at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Minelli won.

Al Delmont, former Italian ring star, watched Minelli in training and was impressed by his aggressiveness and hitting.

Frankie Jayne of Watertown will meet Joe Bolduc of Cambridge in the semi-final of six rounds.

Johnny Coe, Medford, meets Iggy Vaccari, East Boston, six rounds; Billy Turco, Revere, faces Billy Napper, Roxbury, six rounds; and Lou Manning, North End, meets Fred Crowley, Dorchester, in four rounds.

Rock Gives N. H. $55,143 Check

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 12 (AP) Governor Dale today received a $55,143 check from Rockingham race track for New Hampshhire charities and immediately announced that a special committee headed by Albert S. Baker, his secretary, would handle its distribution.

Lou Smith, executive director of the New Hampshire Jockey Club, informed the Governor the track's annual charity meet netted $61,643. He said that $5000 had been donated directly to the New Hampshire Crippled Children's Hospital fund, and $1500 to the Sceva Speare Hospital of Plymouth.

Sailor to Box in 175's On Amateur Card

Uncle Sam's Navy will be represented in this week's amateur fight card conducted by the South End A. C. at Mechanics Bldg. tomorrow night.

Sailor Al Tsakeris has filed his entry for the 175-pound class. Another entry for this division has been received from James Kelley of Chelsea. Late entries have also been sent in by Leo Pratt, Dorchester; Joseph Russo and Michael Termine, Boston, for the 112-pound class.

'I'll Kayo Walcott, Then Retire'—Louis

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (INS)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis predicted today that he will knock out Jersey Joe Walcott in their return match next June, and added that he then will retire from the ring immediately. He said:

"I know I'm not finished yet."

High-Scoring Pros Duel on Garden Court

Boston's Celtics and Philadelphia Warriors, eastern division members of the B. A. A., renew hostilities tonight at Boston Garden with Joe Fulks and Ed Sadowski continuing their private duel for league scoring honors.

Sadowski took the lead night before last, but Fulks came back last night against St. Louis with 28 points to go five ahead of the Boston star.

Fulks scored 28 points—representing nine field goals and ten free throws—but was unable to pace his Warrior teammates to a victory over St. Louis' Bombers. The Bombers won, 74 to 69.

However, the Philadelphia forward saw his point total for the season rise to 245.

A total of 63 fouls was called in the game at Philadelphia, breaking the previous game mark set by Pittsburgh and Philadelphia last year. Three players were expelled for excessive fouling.

In the only other game played, last night, the Washington Capitals defeated the Baltimore bullets, 71-69, at Baltimore in an overtime afafir. The game was tied 64-64 at the end of the regular route.

Fred Scolari of the Capitals rang in nine points to push to third place in the point-making parade.

Tonight's preliminary game at 7:30 brings together two Waltham schools, St. Charles and St. Mary's.

CELTS' ACE—Ed Sadowski, Boston Celtics' league-leading scorer, will be out to keep his edge on Joe Fulks, runner-up, who is here with the Philadelphia Warriors tonight. Fulks has played two games less than Sadowski.

Local Golf Courses Provide Good Skiing

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

The recent snowfall raised skiers' hopes for a chance at more local sport this week-end, and while the heavenly tapioca did cover a few of the bare spots on suburban slopes more snow is needed before most of the tows will roll again. However, we suggest trying wooded hills and little-used golf courses. If you don't object to climbing, there are numerous places offering ample opportunity to sharpen up those stem christies.

In response to many requests, here is a list of nearby tow slopes, all within an hour's drive—or less—from Boston:

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB, Newton, close to the end of the street car line. Rolling terrain here is particularly suited for novices and intermediates. The rope tow ran yesterday, and will operate this week-end—if the snow lasts under the onslaught of slippery slats. Floodlighted.

GROTON COUNTRY CLUB—Has good pitches, serviced by a rope tow. Adjacent hills afford excellent chance for practice. Lunchroom on grounds.

LOCKE'S HILL, Amesbury—45 minutes from Boston, turning left at Salisbury, and following Rt. 110. One of the best hills in this section, with grades for every degree of skill. Two rope tows, one 800-feet, the other about 1500-feet in length. New slope now under construction for informal races. Warming hut, ski school, and floodlights.

WARD HILL, Shrewsbury—Has an 800-foot rope tow. The hill is wide and sweeping. Warming hut at foot. A very accessible spot. Floodlighted.

JERICHO HILL, Marlboro—New rope tow here, about 1200 feet in length. Also a new warming hut. Floodlighted. Run by Jericho Ski Club.

HEALEY'S HILL, Leominster—Two rope tows, with varied terrain. Skiable on few inches of snow. Warming hut.

CLAY PIT SKI TOW, North Andover—Located off Route 114, between Middleton and Lawrence. Has 700-foot rope, warming hut and floodlights.

TEMPLE MT. DEVELOPMENT, Peterborough, N. H.—Closest major area to Boston, about 1½ hours' drive. Three tows, a variety of slopes and trails and Bill Eagleson's Ski School.

As we mentioned before, there are several fine hills on nearby country club courses, such as Winchester, Oakley, Weston and the like. Devoid of tows, they should be the best bets tomorrow and Sunday, providing the temperature is below freezing.

Scholastic Sixes Busy On All Fronts

Schoolboy hockey followers get their first full weekend of ice antics, starting this evening, when the four loops have scheduled no less than 16 contests to take place before Sunday is concluded. Breaking into the local picture for the first time this season is the Bay State League. They get the proceedings started tonight with four games at the Arena.

Following in quick pursuit will be the remaining three leagues, all in second round clashes. Greater Boston puck chasers meet at the Garden tomorrow afternoon, Eastern Mass. at the Arena tomorrow night, and the Catholic league at the same rink Sunday night.

Bay State sessions find defending champion, Wellesley, meeting Walpole, Norwood trading checks with Watertown, Waltham skating with B. C. H., and Framingham dualing Needham.

Both Wellesley and Walpole will be skating for new coaches. Harold Hines, former B. U. star, will be masterminding the champions, while Bill Harrison, Dartmouth great, takes over the Walpolers.

Hines, however, is faced with the problem of replacing such stars as Sargi Kinlin, Lennie Maccini, and Les Feldhouse all lost to last year's winner through graduation.

Framingham appears to be the club to beat this year, for it has practically its whole squad back, led by the league's leading scorer Sammy Wallis. Another sextet that will bear watching is Watertown, which misses only last season standout, Dick Bradley.

Henderson Back For Sunday Game

Murry Henderson was reported ready today to take his place at defense when the Boston Bruins face the Toronto Maple Leafs at Boston Garden Sunday night.

Henderson has missed 10 of the last 11 Bruins games because of a shoulder injury.

Dr. Tom Kelly, Bruins physician, also said that Fernie Flaman will be back in the lineup by Dec. 20, when Detroit invades Boston. That will leave Milt Schmidt the lone casualty.

Irish Jim Cully Whips Chief Saunooke

Irish Jim Cully defeated Chief Osley Saunooke in two straight falls in the feature bout of the weekly wrestling show at the Arena last night.

In the other bouts, Bob McCoy wrestled to a 20 minute draw with Tiger Tasker, Roland Meeker defeated Les Ryan and Rufus Jones defeated Tom Casey.

PICS PLAY AT ATLANTIC CITY TONIGHT; HOME TOMORROW

The Olympics will be in Atlantic City tonight to play the first of three games in as many days, but they will be back tomorrow night for their important Quebec Senior League contest with George Boucher's Ottawa Senators.

With the invading Canadians will be the two leading scorers of loop, Georgie Greene and Jack Irvine. Greene, center ice veteran, has scored 11 goals and 22 assists for 33 points, four better than his teammate Irvine, who is next with 14 goals and 15 assists.

Marcel Fillion, Pics' rugged wingman, has tallied 16 goals and a like number of assists in Quebec League competition to place him in a respectable spot among the individual scorers. Fillion's season total is 32 points since he scored six goals and has five assists to show for his Eastern League competition.

The last time Ottawa skated onto the North Station rink, Harrington's charges won, 4-2. They hope to repeat.

Sunday afternoon, the Pics return to the Garden for their second meeting with the Atlantic Sea Gulls in two days.

Postponement Refused Medford

Faces Foe In Rain

By MIKE GILLOOLY

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 12—It was raining here at 3 o'clock this afternoon, as it has been for the past three days, and Medford Coach Tom O'Connor "suggested" to Robert E. Lee Coach Warren Kirkham that it might be better for players and spectators alike if their intersectional 'Gator Bowl football game be deferred until tomorrow afternoon.

response of Kirkham. "The Ki-

"Nothing doing," was the tart wanians want this game played tonight, and they'll get it."

O'Connor isn't anxious to have his team play in the rain. It is much lighter than Lee, whose line averages 200 pounds from end to end. Besides, the field is soggy and puddles here and there approximate the size of lagoons. It is no place to try quick-openers. The advantage lies with the heavier team. Nor, for that matter, has the Medford team played at night.

The temperature was 65 this afternoon, and the weatherman said it would drop to 50 by game time (8 p. m.).

Medford has yet to see the sunshine here, either meteorologically or psychologically.

All they've been hearing about is the power of Lee's mastodonic eleven, even from transplanted Bostonians.

But 200 men from Greater Boston who will be among the 17,000 spectators tonight, say Lee is no heavier than Denny Gildea's Everett High eleven, and "Medford beat Everett." But the rooters are not experts. The scouts are. And the scouts are pessimistic, rating the home team a 12-point favorite.

"In spite of what the program might say, that Generals' line will go 200 pounds from tackle to tackle," said one scout. "They've got the best guard that this state has known in half a dozen years in Dick Petry, a 180-pounder, who actually tears an opposing line to shreds in the course of a game. Just watch him against Medford's 160-pounder and I fear what you'll discover."

Actually, the entire weight of the game might fall on the center of the Mustangs' line.

Medford can score. They'll be running into a defensive set-up that they've been hoping for—a 6-2-2-1. They'll be meeting a club that will find Tom Kelley's passes baffling. They'll be setting up quick-opening plays from their T formation that will astound the slower, southern school. They'll be facing a poor-kicking team.

But, as Coach Tom O'Connor has been preaching to the boys for almost a week, they'll have to cement the center of the line, Guards Gerry Dente, 150-pounds, and Patsy Zona, 165, as well as Dick Murphy, 185-pound center, will be the object of the affection in the Generals' drive.

Stripping for Action—Medford High squad, which meets Robert E. Lee High tonight in Jacksonville, arrives early at field house for intersectional clash. Boy with hands on shirt is Eddie Fields. In chair in T-shirt is Sam Dente. In chair, sweater clad, is Chuck Bowles. In leather jacket, behind Fields, is Gene Hassan. In T-shirt, behind Dente, is Dick Rachels. In T-shirt, in right rear, is Gino Pagliucia. John Cahill and Dick Lawrence are also shown. Medford is 13-point underdog.

It's toward this acknowledged weakness of weight in the line that Coach O'Connor has been pointing. He has been grooming the 215-pound tackle, Charlie Steele, to take over in either guard slot. He has been working with end Eddie Quinn, 175-pounder, to develop him into a fresh replacement at any time. Murphy should be able to take care of himself.

But the ultimate decision may rest in that vulnerable spot. Coach O'Connor knows it. Coach Warren Kirkman of Lee knows it. Guards Dente and Zona, as well as center Murphy have been acquainted with the situation.

Everything possible has been done to put the Mustangs in their best possible condition. According to the coaching staff, the boys have the spark to go out there and win tonight, if they'll only follow through in their team play—as they did in winning the State championship—they can come through on top in spite of the 12-point disadvantage they'll be meeting.

At any rate, if Medford loses, it can be said the defeat was unexpected.
